Russians Crush Tank Army, Take Kaluga, Rout Six Nazi Corps

Special Brigade of Hitler's Elite
Guards Flown to Front and Promptly Defeated.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

MOSCOW, Thursday, Jan. 1.—The Red army announced today the recapture of the important city of Kaluga, final defeat of Colonel General Heinz Guderian's tank army, and routing of 16 German divisions comprising six entire army corps on the entire central front.

Colonel Alfonte Is Corps Area Quartermaster

Benning Official Appointed To Succeed
General Frink.

The War Department yesterday announced that Colonel James R. Alfonte, now serving as Fort Benning post quartermaster, will succeed Brigadier General J. L. Frink as Fourth Corps Area quartermaster. General Frink has just been advanced to the post of deputy quartermaster general in charge of troops in the field with headquarters in Washington.

It was not made known immediately if Colonel Alfonte will be raised to the rank of brigadier general. Announcement on the point will be made by Major General Edmund B. Gregory, quartermaster general, in Washington.

Colonel Alfonte at one time served as quartermaster at Corregidor, in Manila, the fort which the Japs are now bombing.

Native of Indiana.
Colonel Alfonte, a native of Pendleton, Ind., was commissioned a second lieutenant in infantry in 1911. He left Purdue University shortly before graduation from a mechanical engineering course to take an examination for his commission in the Army.

He was one of 57 civilians to take the examination, the first to be given to civilians.

His initial assignment was with the Seventh Infantry, which was stationed, in turn, at Galveston, Texas, and Vera Cruz, Mexico, with General Funston's punitive expedition, during his four years with that unit. He was transferred to the 34th Infantry, serving with it but a short time before being transferred to the Air Corps Flying School at San Diego, Cal., from which he graduated with the class of 1917.

During the World War he served as commanding officer of Call Field, Texas. Following the Armistice, he remained in the same capacity at that station until 1920, when he transferred to the Quartermaster Corps. He then served successively as commanding officer of the Camp Boyd Motor Transport Depot, El Paso, Texas; as a student at the Motor Transport School, graduating with the class of 1921; as officer in charge of the Second Division trains at San Antonio, Texas; as quartermaster at Corregidor, P. I.; commanding officer of the Cavalry Division trains at El Paso, Texas; as a student at the Quartermaster School, graduating in 1927; as quartermaster at Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Leavenworth.

NAZIS GIVE UP—Three German prisoners, their hands raised, are marched away to a transport after their capture in the British "Commando" raid on Vaagso Island, Norway, four days ago. British soldiers are escorting them. Blasting of a Quisling plant making supplies for the Germans marked the daring expedition.

Atlanta's Bank Clearings Set All-Time High

1925 Record Is Broken as 1941 Figure Hits $4,551,500,000.

Atlanta bank clearings for 1941 broke all records with a total of $4,551,500,000, as compared to $3,604,200,000 in 1925, the previous all-time high. The 1940 clearings were $3,431,400,000.

A further indication that money is in circulation in Atlanta was given when the Atlanta Clearing House Association announced that clearings for December totaled $483,400,000, as against $363,500,000 for the same month last year. Yesterday's clearings were $22,400,000, while a year ago yesterday was the first day of 1940 and banks were closed.

In announcing the all-time record, officials of the association yesterday said records of the office were begun in 1892.

Slight Mistake! Builder Erects Home on Lot on Wrong Street

J. A. Coles, 596 Fair street, S. W., builder, yesterday was $25 sadder but wiser. Several weeks ago he appeared at the office of City Building Inspector Charlie J. Bowen, and took out a permit to build a modest four-room and a bath frame home for Hattie Sherwood, of the same address. He took the permit out for 1171 Booker avenue, S. W. Instead of building the home on 1171 Booker avenue, however, he moved three lots down the street

Occasional Showers Predicted Here Today

Atlantians will do well to wear their light raincoats to work today, for United States Weather Forecaster Glen Jefferson predicts occasional showers. The weather generally will be cloudy and warmer, he says.

Temperature extremes are predicted at 45 and 60 degrees, as compared with 35 and 60 degrees yesterday.

Big Navy Base Is Essential to Future Moves

Supreme Surety Marks Briton's Interview in Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—(P)—Winston Churchill predicted with supreme surety today that the British and their Allies will hold Singapore, the naval base so essential to major operations of Allied warships in the Far East.

Beneath a green and white striped canopy in the "tent room" of Canada's government house, the British Prime Minister, puffing a six-inch cigar sent to him by President Batista of Cuba, spoke with glowing confidence to a long press conference attended by some 200 British Empire and American newsmen.

He talked with feeling of the courageous stand of the Philippine army and predicted the Japanese, before the fight ended, would get some surprises. Asked, then, if he could say when the Allies would

Americans Continue Stubborn Resistance Against Invading Foe

Details of Capital's Final Stand Lacking as Communications Are Suspended; City Expects Defeat.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—With the early fall of Manila a very real probability, General Douglas MacArthur nevertheless reported to the War Department tonight that a "stubborn resistance" was being offered the Japanese "according to prearranged defense plans."

The commanding general in the Far East also said that American and Filipino wounded had been evacuated on the steamship Macatan, bound for Australia. The vessel had been converted into and marked as a hospital ship, which by treaty should make her immune from enemy attack.

Meanwhile, from the Navy, came a communique, apparently intended as a denial of Tokyo claims that Maui, Palmyra and Johnston islands, in or near the Hawaiian group, had been effectively bombed. The situation on those islands, the Navy said, was unchanged since the last report, which was received December 24.

Official Communique.
In full, the War Department's communique said:

"General Douglas MacArthur, commanding the United States forces in the East, has advised the War Department that wounded of the American and Philippine Army have been evacuated from the Manila area on the steamship Macatan, which has been converted into a hospital ship and appropriately marked in accordance with the Geneva convention of 1907. The wounded will be taken to Australia.

"American and Philippine troops are continuing their stubborn resistance according to prearranged defense plans."

All indications were that Manila must soon surrender to powerful Japanese forces slashing their way steadily toward the city from two directions regardless of the fierce resistance of badly outnumbered defending troops.

Ex-Georgian in Charge.
(The War Department said Brigadier General James R. Weaver, former Fort Benning (Ga.) officer, was reported commanding tank activities on Luzon island. General Weaver, a native of Ohio, was at the Fort Benning Infantry School in 1925 and was a tank student in the infantry school tank course there in 1938).

There was only scanty news, phrased in most general terms, of what was going on, but its meaning was unmistakably plain.

The enemy was driving upon the island capital in great force from both north and south. Japan's dive bombers dominated the roads. Great quantities of tanks and ar-

United Country Welcomes 1942 With Prayers

War, Extra Work Fail to Halt Annual Gala Celebrations.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—America is beginning the new year—the first since Uncle Sam again shouldered his gun—with prayer and extra work but yet is finding time to play.

There is a possibility that President Roosevelt with Britain's Prime Minister Churchill, who is returning here from Canada, will slip quietly into church somewhere in the capital to join their prayers with those offered in democracy's cause throughout the world.

President Roosevelt on December 22, a fortnight after the United States replied with a quick declaration of war to Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor, issued a proclamation designating the first day of 1942 as a national day of prayer.

Special Services.
In churches in Washington, along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, in cities and at crossroads inland, special services are being held in response to the President's proclamation that January 1 be a "Day of prayer, of asking forgiveness for our shortcomings of the past, of consecration to the tasks of the present, and of asking God's help in the days to come."

England, which in years past hasn't made much of New Year's Day, is joining this nation in prayer and is observing its sixth official day of prayer since Britain entered the war three years ago. King George and Queen Elizabeth, "wherever they might be," are going to church.

Canada and India are likewise greeting the New Year with prayer. The Archbishop of Quebec asked Catholics in his archdiocese to observe January 1, with special prayers for a victorious peace.

Special services in the Bethany Chapel in the Washington cathedral will have a particular meaning. It is there that the last World War

Happy New Year

Carrier's Address

ATLANTA DAILY CONSTITUTION

January, 1878.

1878

Address

My friends and patrons, "A happy New Year!" is the greeting I bring.

Twelve months' good fortune, all gladness and cheer, is the blessing I bring!

May the moments drop happiness, the brightest and fairest. And the new year bring you gladness the best and the rarest. The Old Year is gone, weary with its hopes and its sorrows. The New Year is born, merry with its sparkling to-morrows. May all sad thoughts and regrets of the old year be buried. And new schemes, fair hopes and resolves, to perfection be carried. For to-morrow is ours in all only and smiling. With high promises and new hopes, all hearts beginning. Gladly we greet him, and catch the warm sunshine from his dimpling face.

Fondly we watch him, Old Time's sweet infant, start on his race. All hail to thy success, then child of the seasons! We prophesy thee good luck, from well chosen reasons. For the year begins well for our beloved State. And she is entering daily at a rapid rate. Fortune favors her, and she humbly, gracefully wears. All the honors and glories that States can call theirs.

"Our City"—Atlanta is her grand head and center, you see. (All wise ones from the first felt sure she would be.) And now that the "Capital question" no longer worries and bothers, And we have no more trouble with the "Halls of our Fathers," We may look forward to a year full of quiet and peace. With new trade and prosperity fast on the increase. All does well, and "merrily as a marriage bell" this New Year's day.

And while they read, the Carrier hopes his patrons will list his lay.

And kindly tarry while he respectfully sings a few lines more Ere he leaves his New Year's greeting at their well-known door. Since his last address, kind friends you read, Twelve months, one year has passed and fled. But not one day has he failed to bring Your daily paper—of all good gifts, the very best thing!

Do you ever think as you read, and it brings you good news. Of rising stocks, or a demand for new shoes, Or an increase in cotton, a falling in gold, High prices offered for new iron and old, Of board growing cheaper, and rent less high. And of the bargains the public are invited to buy.

That in his daily round the Carrier's boots must grow awfully thin And that he'd thank you immensely for a small gift of tin? Think of it, kind friends, while your hearts are tender and glad. Neither rain, snow, sleet or biting hail, Ere cause him in his delivery to fail. While you snugly sleep, "neath cozy blankets" heat, He toils along the deserted, dimly lighted street.

Folding his papers, and deftly tossing them in. Anxious to serve you, and none good for him. Each morning this welcome visitor waits at your hand, Full of gossip and news, fresh from many a land. With interest you scan telegrams and tales full of pity. Cheerfully glance at horoscopes, (sometimes) light and witty. But do you ever wonder whence comes the treat, Lying unasked for at your very feet?

Or do you sigh for the weary form that paused at your gate? But a moment, ere it hurried on at a marvelous rate? Perhaps you imagine some magician kind, Sent it whirling along on a wing of the wind, Or machinery too it flying without sound or roar, So neat and conveniently near to your door!

Abs! no, dear friends, the Carrier brought it on swift, Through long Summer's heat and drear Winter's drift. Yes, and he'll bring it again and again right cheerily, As long as the days go by, so blithe and merrily. But now he retires,—with a low bow and a greeting. Wishing you joy and happiness—till next New Year's greeting!

HAPPY NEW YEAR... IN 1878—Sixty-four years ago this morning readers of The Constitution found a cheery greeting from their carriers as they opened papers on the morning of January 1, 1878. At left above is the back of that friendly New Year "address," center, the two pages of handset good wishes, and right, The Constitution building of that day, located at 30 Broad street, S. W. The greetings were printed in The Constitution's own job printing plant. (Story on Page 4.)

Pearl Harbor Victims Ask Crack at Japs

Evacuees Land, Describe First Blasts of War

Women, Children Are Among Arrivals From Scene of Attack.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—(AP)—“Fix us up so we can get back for another crack at ‘em,” a sailor wounded at Pearl Harbor said today as he and scores of other Army and Navy casualties arrived on ships from the Pacific battleground.

From the gangplanks as they were lowered from the tall gray sides of the ships came a thin trickle first of walking wounded, hobbling on crutches or their arms in slings.

Later sailor orderlies began carrying the stretchers down—boys still smiling, with a cigaret between their lips despite burns which had left their faces raw and red or shrapnel wounds which had torn their bodies.

With them disembarked hundreds of the Navy's wives and mothers and children—worn from a sudden trip which found them leaving their fathers and husbands behind on Christmas day of all days.

Women in the grey and blue of emergency and Red Cross services waited to help the evacuees, and the pliers were barred by steel-helmeted Army sentries to all but the waiting ambulances, lined up in serried rows.

Mother, Little Ones.

A mother came off, walking slowly down the dock, holding a boy of two by one hand and a boy of another son, about four, carrying a little suitcase with “little country doctor” lettered on it.

Doctors and nurses, real ones, were busy tending the wounded sailors and soldiers, trying to make them comfortable for the trip to Army and Navy hospitals.

But the boys were smiling for the most part, although some of them lay still and quiet on their stretchers. Others were feverishly reading American papers, trying to get an idea of what had happened in the rest of the world.

Tells of Attack.

“This is what happened,” the boy said. “That Sunday (December 7, when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor) it didn't seem anything unusual. But about five minutes to 8 we saw planes flying overhead and a little while later a plane dropped a torpedo which hit us forward.”

“I was in the crew's galley when the Japs were sighted and that's where I got mine—shrapnel in both legs. All four of the boys with me were hit.”

“The ship's loudspeaker began

Navy Rechristens Normandie; She's Now 'U.S.S. LaFayette'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The former French luxury liner Normandie, now being converted into a naval auxiliary, today was given the name of U. S. S. La Fayette.

The huge passenger liner, seized by the Coast Guard December 12, is the first American naval vessel to be named in honor of the Marquis de La Fayette, French hero of America's Revolutionary War.

A Navy announcement said Secretary Knox assigned the name La Fayette “by direction of the President.”

The Navy declined to say more than that the 83,433-ton ship would be an “auxiliary,” but previous speculation about the use of the big liner had given primary attention to her value as a troop transport. Extensive conversion would be needed to fit the liner as an aircraft carrier.

The name “La Fayette” is not entirely new in naval usage, for it was assigned by President Woodrow Wilson in the first World War to the powerful United States naval radio station built at Croix de Hins, Girond, France.

bellowing, ‘Japs are coming’ and we went to our stations. Our guns were manned right through the attack and as far as I could see we gave a good account of ourselves. I'm ready to go back right now.”

Two of Trammell's shipmates, lying alongside, nodded their heads in agreement. They were L. E. Pullian, 32, of South Gate, Cal., and W. A. Schiller, 21, St. Louis. Both had shrapnel wounds, Schiller in the sides and legs and Pullian in the legs. They were members of the same gun crew, a broadside gun.

Hit by Shrapnel.

“I got hit when a bomb exploded and the flying shrapnel got all of our 12-man gun crew except for two,” Schiller said, his face serious.

A curly-headed, blond lad alongside grinned and wanted to say hello. They were lying in rows, so close together you could hardly squeeze between the stretchers. The curly-headed boy was William B. Chose, of Wilsall, Mont. He was just 18.

“Ankle and arm was where I got it,” he said, “but I'm fine. Those boys with the burns—poor guys!”

A girl, maybe a wife or a sweetheart, yellow and green leis bright over her red dress, came down the rows, eyes searching. Then she caught sight of him and ran to his side.

Weaver Made Acting Chief of U. S. Air Corps

Orders Relieve General as Commander of Training Center.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The assignment of Major General Walter R. Weaver as acting chief of the Air Corps with headquarters in Washington was announced today by the War Department.

The orders relieved Weaver of his assignment as commanding general of the Southeast Air Corps Training Center with headquarters at Maxwell Field, Ala.

U. S. Prisoners Spurn Holiday, Aid Red Cross

Inmates Decide to Work New Year's Day, Give Wages to Charity.

The boys back of bars at the federal penitentiary, the ones who are making TNT cases and shell covers, are "strong for President Roosevelt in his sacred task of ridding the world of gangsters."

To prove it they are giving up their traditional New Year's Day program of rest and recreation to day to put in a full day at their machines in the industrial plant, and are contributing their pay for the day's work to the Red Cross.

Warden Joseph Sanford said the prisoners "to a man asked the privilege of working the two regular eight-hour shifts and they have volunteered to give their pay for the day's work to the Red Cross."

The warden notified the President of the action, at the request of the prisoners. Several months ago the prison workers voluntarily went on double shift and accelerated work on all defense material, which also includes tents for the armed forces.

World Tin Production Shows Good Increase

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—World production of tin in the first 10 months of 1941 increased to 209,500 tons from 187,600 tons in the comparable 1940 period, according to revised figures issued today by the Tin Research Institute.

United States deliveries of the vital metal, which is now under complete federal control, amounted to 8,355 tons in November, it reported, against 8,000 in October. For the first 11 months deliveries totaled 135,642 tons, against 108,138 in the first 11 months last year.

World stocks of tin, including smelters' stocks and carryover, increased by 4,736 tons in October to 51,465 tons at the end of the month.

Civil Employment Shows Big Gain in November

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Civil non-agricultural employment totaled 40,693,000 during November. Secretary of Labor Perkins announced today. The figure exceeded November, 1940, by 3,165,000 and November, 1929, by 4,114,000.

Payrolls were said to be 42.2 per cent higher in November, 1941, than in the same month a year ago. This sizable increase, the secretary said, reflected the expansion of working hours, overtime payments and wage rate increases.

Divorce Action Revived By Actress Nancy Kelly

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Actress Nancy Kelly has revived a divorce action filed against Actor Edmond O'Brien last June 23.

Attorney George Breslin said the original action was held in abeyance when the couple became reconciled. They separated a second time four weeks ago, he said today.

They were married at Yuma, Ariz., last February.

Greeting 'Card' In '78 Recalled By Old Printer

Constitution Carriers Required Two Pages for Their 'Address.'

They were more expansive days, more leisurely, simpler.

A short, clipped "Happy New Year" wasn't considered enough. They had time, patience, ingenuity and good-will back there on New Year's morning of 1878.

The world was much younger, fresher and kinder and the carriers for The Constitution required two full pages of a striking three-color, four-page "Address" to their patrons to express the feelings aroused by the season.

They Meant It.

They seemed to mean it, when, for example, they said:

May the moments drop happiness,
the brightest and fairest,
And the New Year bring you gladness,
the best and rarest.

The whole cheerful Address was set up in the job printing department of the old Constitution building which stands at 30' Broad street, S. E., an excellent representation of which was given on the back in clear green ink.

A veteran, W. S. Wier, still active as a proofreader, recalled yesterday the story of that and similar addresses. He joined The Constitution in 1882 at the age of 10 years—and today marks the 60th anniversary of his introduction to printer's ink.

Hand-Set Job.

"That Address was a hand-set job," he declared. "In those days the job printing department—which later was sold to the Franklin Printing Company—was on the second floor. Jim Robinson, who had served with Captain Evan P. Howell in the War Between the States and was a close comrade, was superintendent. Howard Bass was foreman of the job composing room and Wiley Harris foreman of the job press room."

"They were all good men, long since gone, more's the pity. They were devoted to their work, as all good printers are, and it was a matter of happy concern to all of them to make the Address as perfect in composition and arrangement as it was friendly in spirit."

"New Year's meant something then. Times were hard, people were poor, the war was just a little way back of us, but we were human, less like machines. We had sentiment."

Declined Honor.

Proofreader Wier, a lay minister and philosopher, declined the honor given him by tradition of having set up the type for this Address.

"It's a good job and I'd like to claim it," he admitted. "But I was only six then. Later on, I did as well. I won't say better, because it was excellent work."

Another tradition died in the course of the investigation. No vestige remains of the state seal, which is The Constitution's emblem, atop the old Broad street building. Close examination revealed only bricks. Moreover, close examination of the engraving upon the 1878 Address shows only a window with rounded top, outlined in brick, where the seal is said to have been.

But the Address, and its spirit, are no mere tradition.

They live brightly still.

Poultry Program Begun in Sumter

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. AMERICUS, Ga., Dec. 31.—A number of Sumter county citizens interested in poultry raising, headed by W. D. Moore, vocational teacher at Americus High school, and County Agent J. K. Luck, visited the poultry farms near Butler and those in several other sections in the state Tuesday.

Professor Moore, who has started a campaign here to make Sumter the largest poultry-producing area in the entire state, having for a goal $1,000,000 worth of broilers annually, said that the visit to the various poultry sections was most educational and instructive. Trips of similar nature are expected to be made to other parts of the state during the next 60 days, Moore said.

The vocational teacher said that many people over the county had already started raising broilers for market; that thousands of chicks already had been ordered, and March and April should see this number increased by many more thousands, indicating that the poultry program for Sumter county was off to a good start.

William F. Kuhlke, 68, Succumbs at Augusta

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 31.—(P)—William Frederick Kuhlke, 68, superintendent of shops for the Charleston and Western Carolina Railroad, died at his home here yesterday. He was one of the originators of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Oliver H. Kuhlke, of Savannah, and a grandson, William F. Kuhlke III, of Savannah.

Fayette Red Cross Quotas Are Overpaid

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. FAYETTEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 31.—Fayette county citizens indicated their whole-hearted support to the American Red Cross by exceeding both their annual roll call quota and the war relief fund requested of them, Candler C. Miller, chapter chairman, announced today.

"The quota set for Fayette county for the annual roll call was $300 and the quota requested by the National Red Cross for the special war relief fund was $750," Mr. Miller stated. "In response to these requests the people contributed $330 to the roll call and $846 to the special war relief fund and donations are still being received," he added.

READY FOR ALL EVENTUALITIES—It's to be a tough year, as everybody knows, but it won't catch John Leon Williamson unaware. More at home in overalls than his present costume, young Master Williamson, son of Constitution Artist John Williamson, and Mrs. Williamson, is prepared for duty in the Dunwoody sector wherein he resides. At 16 months, he's a precocious, though rugged, volunteer.

United Country Welcomes 1942 With Prayers

President, Woodrow Wilson, lies buried.

In that chapel, too, is the tomb of Frank B. Kellogg, one-time secretary of state, who thought when he had won to his peace pact the signatures of Germany and Japan, among other nations, that the world would never again be at war.

Near by is a marker that reads: George Dewey. It was Admiral Dewey, who as commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, won the Philippines for the United States.

The victorious event was 41 years and five months ago to a day—and now the Lord Mayor of London is broadcasting words of cheer on New Year's Day from "the bombed city of London."

The Office of Production Management asked that the wheels of industries supplying the armed forces keep turning on New Year's Day, and in many plants throughout the country, tanks and implements of war are being turned out as the old year goes and the new comes in.

Staying on Job.

Uncle Sam is staying on the job. Employees of the Army, Navy, Commerce and Agriculture departments and several other federal agencies are working a full day New Year's.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who is assistant civilian defense director for two at its New Year's eve festivities. It seemed those who would be merry wanted company—two, three or four other couples along.

There were many private parties in homes throughout the city. Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, famous for her big parties, invited a long list of guests to see the new year in.

In the White House President Roosevelt planned to give the toast: "To the United States of America."

nouncement of the final smashing of the tank expert's forces and the infantrymen of Von Kluge. The Russian announcement, opening the new year, told of a victory as great as any yet claimed by either side in the great war which began with the German invasion on June 22.

In occupying Kaluga, the Russians also took the big railway junction of Novy Kirishi (presumably just west of Kaluga on the Moscow-Bryansk and Tula-Vyasma railways.)

The victorious Oka river push, overrunning positions which the Nazis had attempted to consolidate for the winter, was timed to coincide with the Red army offensive in the Crimea where Russian troops, following Joseph Stalin's own plan of strategy, are driving to relieve the besieged naval base of Sevastopol.

Even as the latest victory was announced, Russia's President, Michael Kalinin, told the Soviet Union in a New Year's message:

"We are now fighting the Germans on equal terms. The enemy is in retreat and on some parts of the front actually on the run."

Stalin's Crimean strategy was aimed at swift recapture of the whole Crimean peninsula from the Germans.

War To Simplify Social Program

Simplified social life, with less drinking and smoking, and such practical actions as giving defense stamps as bridge prizes, was named yesterday as one of the objectives of the women's division of the State Defense Committee.

Mrs. Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, the chairman, said a less strenuous social program would aid materially in preventing waste of energy and materials and would contribute importantly to the strength and morale of the civil population.

U. S. Anti-Trust Suits Name NBC and CBS

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—(P)—Two civil suits charging two major radio institutions, National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System, and eight executives with monopolistic practices were filed in federal court today by the Justice Department's antitrust division.

The NBC suit sought by injunction to break up the two networks of National Broadcasting Company by requiring NBC to retain either the red or blue network and sell assets of the other.

The government sought to prevent Columbia Broadcasting from continuing or making further exclusive-affiliation contracts with broadcasting stations.

Los Angeles Replaces Pearl Harbor Losses

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—(P)—Japan's treacherous attack on Hawaii killed 2,638 American seamen.

And today, the Navy proudly announced, its Los Angeles recruiting center signed up its 2,638th recruit since December 7. He is Edgar Young, 19. His uncle, Lieutenant Erwood Edgar, of the Naval Medical Corps, escaped uninjured in the Pearl Harbor attack.

Hitler, Bitter, Prays For Nazi Victory in New Year's Speech

BERLIN, Dec. 31.—(Official Radio Recorded by AP)—Adolf Hitler, in a new year message broadcast to his people, tonight blamed the "unscrupulous, sanguinary sacrifice of the Bolshevik slaves" for Germany's troubles on the eastern front, and told his army the Russian winter counterattack "must and will be frustrated."

Prior to his assignment as a student at the Army War College in 1937, he served as officers in charge of the quartermaster depot at Corozal, Canal Zone.

Colonel Alfonte came to Fort Benning July 3, 1938, to become post quartermaster. The added duty of construction quartermaster was placed on his shoulders in August, 1940, just as the tremendous expansion began at Fort Benning in behalf of national defense.

Approximately $18,000,000 has been spent for construction at Fort Benning during the past 18 months. Statistics produced several months ago showed Fort Benning had set the pace for the nation in per capita cost of its new construction. Facilities for each soldier cost $339 at Fort Benning, as compared to $625 at Fort Bragg and $516 at Camp Blanding.

British March Halts Japanese Malayan Drive

New Nipponese Raid on Singapore Does Little Damage.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Japanese pressure fell off today in the main Perak sector, some 290 miles above Singapore, and all along that front British patrols successfully took the offensive at every point where they could engage the enemy.

All this—establishing that the invader not only had gained no ground, but had been pushed back in some areas of the Malayan peninsula, the most vital of all the Pacific theaters—was announced by the British command in a communiqué, which also reported failure for another overnight Japanese air raid on Singapore.

This time, Japanese bombers sought out the Singapore airbase, but again they were able to cause only minor damage. There was not a single casualty.

Japanese dive bombers likewise were hurled into action against British communications, but they, too, were able to work but little harm, and one raider was shot down by light machinegun fire.

While Perak remained relatively quiet, the second Japanese invading force seeking to beat down the eastern side of the peninsula was apparently making no progress. Enemy planes approaching that area from the direction of Trengganu, farther to the north, were met at once by the imperial defenders.

The Royal Air Force, meantime, again heavily assaulted the advanced Japanese air base of Sungai Partani, pounding it for the second successive night and setting fires in the airbase.

While Singapore drew new strength for the supreme test now ahead, a British authority in London pointed out that the defense would be "with all the means at our disposal" so Singapore could become the main base for the Allied offensive to be launched in the whole Pacific area.

This informant added that the Japanese were just now in full control of the western Pacific area and that the British thus would depend on the United States Navy "until our naval forces are built up to regain control."

In Ottawa, Canada, Prime Minister Churchill thus replied, with incisive American idiom, to a press conference inquiry as to whether he thought the British would hold Singapore.

"I sure do."

Churchill Says Singapore Will Stay With Allies

bomb the Japanese, he replied more grimly that he could not say when but "they have something coming to them one of these days."

Scorn Japanese.
Meticulously, Churchill called them "the Japanese," explaining with an impish smile: "I don't like to call them Japs. It's a bit too familiar."

Churchill's questioners took the Prime Minister figuratively around the world, and this was the result:

Did he think Italy would be soon knocked out of the war?
"Unfortunately, the organ grinder seems to have too firm a hold on the monkey's collar."

Did the Allies receive any peace feelers recently?
"The Axis must be hard-pressed for materials of all kinds, and cannot afford to waste the ink and paper."

Will Hitler march into Spain?
"I really do not know; he has not told me. If you happen to hear, please tell me."

Had the prime minister made any New Year's resolutions?
Only one. "To go on doing my best to keep things going in the right direction."

Grand Strategy.
What about the decisions of the grand strategy for the future conduct of the war, to be made in conference with President Roosevelt?

He hoped they would be expressed "in deeds, and not in words."

How goes the Battle of the Atlantic?
"In February, we were concerned over the high rate of losses for our ships, but now we have managed so as to keep the U-boats farther out, break their link with Nazi planes, arm our merchantmen and—allowing for new British building—we have reduced our losses to one-fifth the former rate. We now feel confident that we can carry on our convoys until the great flow of ships begins coming from the United States. There's a lot of good stuff on the way, but we want more."

Is President Roosevelt going to London?
The President has not talked to him about it, Mr. Churchill said, but should he go, "he will get a royal welcome."

Welfare Section Shake-Up Seen

A shake-up in the personnel of the State Welfare Department through operation of the merit system was predicted for January yesterday in some quarters, although welfare officials would make no estimate as to how many employees would be affected.

J. A. Boatright, supervisor of examinations, admitted that numerous employees would have to go but said he doubted if anybody in the department knew how many.

He pointed out that some positions already have been filled and that other employees are resigning to accept better jobs.

Four Autoists Hurt In McIntyre Accident

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
DUBLIN, Ga., Dec. 31.—Mrs. Moody B. Brown and son, Alfred Brown, of Dublin, and Carolyn and Bernadine King, of Milledgeville, were recovering today from painful but not serious injuries sustained when the Browns' car turned over an embankment on the Milledgeville road near McIntyre. Mrs. Brown and Alfred had motored to Irwinton to meet the King girls, who were to visit them for a few days, and were returning here when the accident occurred. The car was badly damaged. Mrs. King joined them here and her daughters have returned with her to their home in Milledgeville.

Toys for Toyless Go Begging; Still Wait Takers at New Year

Here's a Christmas story that still is not too late on New Year's. Following an annual custom, the Kirkwood Civitan Club, in co-operation with the management of the Kirkwood theater, sponsored a Santa Claus show for the kids before Christmas. Children obtained free admission by bringing some toy which would be given at Christmas-time to some child who might be overlooked by Santa Claus. About 200 toys—trucks, dolls, marbles, balls, etc.—were collected. Came Christmas Eve, the Civitans were frantic. They'd been unable to locate but two or three children facing a toyless Christmas. Frantically they began calling. The Salvation Army had all the toys it needed. So did Dr. Felton Williams' Atlanta Missions. All the churches in the neighborhood reported toys available for all needy children on their lists. Civitans made personal investigations, turned up no toy-takers. New Year's Eve the toys were still in the lobby of the Kirkwood theater. "They'll make nice New Year's presents for some children Santa Claus forgot," said Lionel Keene, manager of the theater. "I'd like to give them away this morning, for we don't want to keep them until next Christmas." So the Kirkwood Civitans have better than 150 toys and nobody to play Santa Claus to.

CRASH VICTIM—Harry H. Looney III, of 221 West Walker street, College Park, son of a councilman of that city, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday.

H.H. Looney III Killed in Crash In College Park

Son, Age 14, of Suburban Councilman Dies as Car Hits Tree.

Harry H. Looney III, 14, son of City Councilman Harry H. Looney Jr., of College Park, was killed yesterday when an automobile he was driving got out of control and crashed into a tree in front of 917 West Rugby avenue, College Park, police reported. He had borrowed the car from Pierce Haynie, of Hapeville, employee at a College Park filling station, and apparently was returning the car at the time of the accident, about noon yesterday. The car was demolished, according to College Park policemen W. L. Creel, D. H. Bell and H. M. Patterson, who answered the call to the wreck. The dead youth was a student at G. M. A. and during the Christmas holidays worked at the filling station where Haynie was employed. Surviving are his parents and grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Dodd, and Harry H. Looney, of College Park. Funeral arrangements will be announced by A. C. Hemperley.

Dublin Sailor Reports To Parents He's 'Safe'

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
DUBLIN, Ga., Dec. 31.—Word has been received from Charles Durden, who is with the United States Navy in Pacific waters, that he is safe, after a Japanese attack on Hawaii. He notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Durden, of near here, that reason for delay in sending them word of his safety was the fact that his ship had been at sea shoe attack and had only just put back into port.

Baird Snyder III, acting FWA administrator, said the policy of the agency would be to restrict the approval of projects to those essential for national defense.

Toccoa Parents Hear Sons Safe in Hawaii

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
TOCCOA, Ga., Dec. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. House, of Toccoa, Route 2, have heard from their two sons, who are in the Army and stationed at Fort Kamehameha, near Honolulu, Hawaii. ## OPM Orders Immediate Cut In Uses of Tin

Bar Use of Metal in 29 Types of Commodities After March 1.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration drove home the full effects of the nation's tin rationing program today by establishing drastic January quotas prohibiting some counties from selling more than one new tire for a passenger automobile and limiting hundreds of others to sales of 10 or less. Set up on a county-by-county basis, the quotas will limit sales throughout the United States and its territories to approximately 357,000 tires next month, ranging from 105 in Alaska to 36,680 in Texas. Indicating the stringency of the figures, OPA officials have estimated that the normal consumption of new tires has averaged about 4,000,000 a month.

Order Sharp Cuts.
 Further emphasizing the loss of vital imports from the Far East, the OPM ordered immediate sharp reductions in civilian consumption of tin and prohibited manufacturers of 29 types of commodities from using the metal at all after March 31. More than 80 per cent of the nation's tin supply is imported from British Malaya. The January tire quotas permit maximum sales of 114,191 tires for passenger cars, motorcycles and light trucks and 242,783 for heavier trucks and buses, such sales to be made only to persons able to prove eligibility under strict OPA requirements.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said he believed the quotas would be adequate to maintain operations of essential vehicles during the month and added that he hoped future quotas could be increased. This would depend, he explained, on developments in the military situation and future demands of the armed forces and the lend-lease administration. Reassures Farmers.
 "There is no need for people to get panicky," he advised. "The fact that a rationing plan is going into effect January 5 doesn't mean that everyone is going to get a flat tire at 12:01 a. m. January 5." Henderson offered reassurance to farmers, asserting that the situation with regard to rubber-tired tractors and other farm equipment appeared "reasonably good."

Under the quota procedure, 2 per cent of the total available supply of new tires was set aside by OPA to be used in making whatever adjustments may be necessary in the state quotas. In addition 8 per cent of the gross allotment of tires to each state is set aside for a similar state reserve, to be used in making adjustments among local rationing boards. The local boards also are prohibited from rationing more than 25 per cent of their month's allotment each week.

All Atlanta Churches Heed Call to Make Today Day of Prayer

Worshippers of all faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—today will gather in churches throughout the city for special prayer in answer to the President's call setting aside January 1 as a "Day of Prayer."

Many of the churches will be open all day so worshippers who are unable to attend the regularly scheduled services might come alone and offer their personal prayers.

In accord with a request from Bishop Gerald P. O'Hara, bishop of the Savannah-Atlanta diocese, Catholic churches will hold special services. Congregations of more than 50 Protestant churches in the city will gather at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church for a special city-wide mass prayer service at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The Jewish Temple will be open all day and a special prayer will be led by Rabbi David Marx.

Special Prayer Services

In response to the President's request, Bishop O'Hara has asked in a letter to all Catholic clergy and laity of the diocese to attend special prayer services. Beginning with the first mass and continuing until evening, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the altars of Catholic churches in Atlanta. Prior to the Tantum Ergo, Bishop Carroll's prayer for the church and the civil authorities will be recited in Catholic churches here.

Rabbi Marx announced that the Temple will remain open throughout the day following special services at 11 o'clock this morning. The public is invited to attend these services.

Today has been designated as High Feast day in Episcopal churches and all churches of Anglican communion have been requested by the Archbishop of Canterbury to set the day aside as prayer day. This along with President Roosevelt's request will be observed at the Cathedral of St. Philip with Holy Communion at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Dean Raimundo de la Cruz will be celebrant. The church will remain open all day for individual prayer. St. Luke's Episcopal will be open from 8 o'clock this morning until 5 o'clock this evening.

More than 50 congregations will be represented at the special united services at Druid Hills Presbyterian this morning. The program arranged by the Atlanta Christian Council will be presided over by Dr. Ryland Knight, president. Chief speakers at the services will be Bishop Arthur J. Moore, Atlanta resident Methodist bishop, former superintendent of missionary work in the Far East, Europe and Africa. He will give an account of what he saw in the countries now enveloped in war. Other speakers will be Dr. Franklin N. Parker, who will offer the first prayer; Dr. Louie D. Newton, who will offer the second prayer; Dr. Stewart R. Oglesby, who will read the scriptures; Dr. W. B. Elliott, who will pronounce the benediction. Haskell L. Boyter will direct the music for the occasion.

A Scouters' conference will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, with a representative of the national council conducting discussions on "The Boy Scout Movement and the National Emergency."

The executive board of the council will meet at 6 o'clock, and the annual banquet will be held at 7:30 o'clock. Awards will be made and officers elected for the ensuing year.

THEY DANCED THE OLD YEAR OUT—A patriotic and military motif was noted throughout the city last night as Atlantans greeted young Mr. 1942. The Uncle Sam hats and caps with a military tang were popular among this group of dancers at the Rainbow Roof.

23 Georgians Made Colonels By the Army

Six Atlantans in Group of 575 Given Promotions

Twenty-three Georgians, including six Atlantans, were promoted from lieutenant colonels to full colonels, it was announced yesterday by the War Department in Washington. In all, 575 lieutenant colonels in all branches of the service were affected by the order.

In addition, the department said approximately 370 captains and 1,620 first lieutenants of the Medical Corps, most of them Reserve and National Guard officers, would be promoted to the next higher grade to fill vacancies.

The new colonels, among them Robert Olds, who commands the Air Corps ferry command, include these Georgians: Nathaniel L. Simmons, Quartermaster Corps, Atlanta; Willard W. Irvine, General Staff Corps, Atlanta; Candler A. Wilkinson, Cavalry, Claxton; Thomas W. Hasty, Air Corps, Chapeau; James C. Longino, Quartermaster Corps, Fairburn; Calvert H. Arnold, Signal Corps, Duluth; Albert G. Wing, Infantry, Atlanta; Arthur G. Hutchinson, Infantry, Haralson; Kendall J. Fielder, General Staff Corps, Cedar-town; Talley D. Joiner, Adjutant General's Department, Sassafras; Frank J. Pearson, General Staff Corps, Atlanta; Guy C. McKinley Jr., Infantry, Milledgeville; Timothy A. Pedley Jr., Infantry, Columbus; Charles S. Johnson, Infantry, Atlanta; Henry L. P. King, Signal Corps, Macon; Wendell L. Clemenson, Infantry, Fort Benning; Irwin L. Lumus, Infantry, Columbus; Gilbert Z. Cheves, General Staff Corps, Richmond; George W. Griner, General Staff Corps, Whitesburg; Charles G. Morgan, Coast Artillery Corps, Vienna; Earl A. Johnson, Infantry, Fort Benning; Thomas W. Jones, Quartermaster Corps, Atlanta; and George M. Couper, Infantry, Marietta.

Farm Family Expense Is Reported as Low

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 31.—(AP)—The average value of farm-produced and farm-consumed goods by Georgia families is $273.80 yearly, but many families fall below this figure, the Extension Service said today in a report on the outlook for 1942.

Willie Vie Dowdy, Extension economist, said a survey of eight Georgia counties showed that farm families, with an average of 4.8 persons per family, incurred expenses of $416 annually. These same families obtained a total of $493 worth of goods produced and used on the farm.

In citing the figure of $273 for food, Miss Dowdy said there were many families very much below that figure.

"Certainly, any farm family that produces and uses less than this should consider carefully the problem of increasing the production of home-grown foods for a more adequate diet and for saving their cash for other things that cannot be produced at home."

The Army and Navy in Georgia

A plan for enlisting 14,000 men for officer training, under which 200 college men in Georgia and Alabama may sign up for active duty following their graduation in June, 1942 and 1943, was announced yesterday by the Navy Department.

College juniors and seniors may enlist now, secure in the knowledge that they will not be called until they have completed their education, the department announcement stated.

"Meanwhile you will be called to active duty only during the period your college is closed next summer," the Navy assured prospective officers.

Upon graduation applicants will receive a 30-day preliminary training course and if found qualified they will receive further training as a midshipman in the naval reserve at a salary of $65 a month plus allowance. Upon completion of the course a commission in the naval reserve and a salary of $125 a month and allowances awaits active duty assignment.

All applicants must be native citizens of the United States, unmarried and between the ages of 19 and 27 years. The naval reserve recruiting station in the Georgia Tech Armory, 154 Third street, is receiving applications.

FINAL ACTION SLATED ON CADET APPLICANTS

The aviation cadet examining board at Lawson field is now authorized to take final action on all aviation cadet applications for pilot training except Negroes and those who have been citizens for less than 10 years.

Under this new plan, an applicant with the necessary educational qualifications, upon successfully passing his physical examination, will be sent to either an aviation cadet replacement training center, an air corps training detachment, or granted a furlough not to exceed 30 days with orders to report to a designated replacement training center at the expiration of the furlough.

To be eligible for training as an aviation cadet a man must be unmarried, a citizen of the United States, of good character, sound physique, in excellent health and between the ages of 20 and 27.

ENLISTED MEN GET PROMOTIONS

Seven enlisted men in nondivisional units at Fort Benning have been promoted, according to special orders announced yesterday at post headquarters.

Promoted were: Thomas G. Windham, of Andalusia, Ala., to the rank of staff sergeant; Parnell A. Jones, Birmingham, staff sergeant; Charles E. Powell, Nashville, sergeant; Richard A. Montgomery Jr., Birmingham, sergeant; Corporal Frederick D. Burks, Mount Meigs, Ala., promoted to sergeant; Corporal Davis B. Chester, of Ellijay, Ga., to sergeant; and Private Samuel C. Walters, of 168 Campbell street, S. E., Atlanta, to corporal.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS LAUDED IN EDITORIAL

America itself has become "a huge quartermaster depot" and the quartermasters "will have to be classed as combat troops, fighting their way overland to the men supplied, dropping supplies by parachute to units which cannot be reached overland," an editorial in the Army Times, weekly publication for the United States Army stated this week.

"Once upon a time when wars were gentlemanly and orderly, songs were sung about the SOS (Service of Supply)," the editorial stated. "They were not too complimentary songs which implied that quartermasters were way back somewhere with the generals out of reach of the enemy. This is no longer true for either generals or quartermasters. Both are now become front line troops or would be if in the melee of

Plane Builders Set Production Record in 1941

Greater Activity Pledged Until Final Victory Is Achieved.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's aircraft manufacturers, reporting through the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, disclosed today that in 1941 they built more than $1,500,000,000 worth of warplanes, engines and propellers—a record—and that in 1942 they hope to double that production in the all-out fight against the Axis.

This year's figure nearly tripled the 1940 production of $544,000,000, said John H. Jouett, Chamber president.

"If it is possible for us, the aircraft manufacturers of this country, to view our responsibilities any more gravely than we have in the past, the dastardly attack by the Japanese and the declarations of war by Germany and Italy fill us with the greatest incentive," Jouett declared.

Will Not Relax. "The aircraft industry pledges that it will not relax its utmost efforts until the war is won. It is our firm belief that we can continue to produce enough aircraft so they will be a decisive factor in the war on all fronts."

To support his belief, Jouett cited the rapidly organized seven-day week, 24-hour-a-day plant operation program.

He listed other salient features as:

Appropriations have been approved totaling $13,000,000,000 to assure continued production of sky fighters and other aeronautical equipment. This compares with about $1,200,000,000 appropriated for such material during World War I.

Vast Allocations. Of the $13,000,000,000 appropriation, which he said would be further increased as the war continues, more than $4,000,000,000 has been allocated for construction of warplanes for this country's Army air forces alone. During World War I, only $133,670,812 was actually spent for military aircraft.

Despite record deliveries, unfilled orders for more than $6,500,000,000 were still on manufacturers' books at the year's end. Two years ago, shortly after outbreak of the war, the backlog was only $6,000,000.

Approximately 425,000 men and women now are working in aircraft factories, as against 193,000 on January 1, 1941. Opening of several new plants during 1942 will bring the total number of workers to 575,000.

Navy Expands Training Plant Near Chicago

Great Lakes Station To Accommodate 45,000 in Future.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The Great Lakes Naval Training Station—already the largest in the world—is expanding.

The Navy reported today a huge program of enlargement was begun this week at the mammoth establishment laid out with nautical neatness along the shore of Lake Michigan 33 miles north of this city.

New construction plans involve the expenditure of $33,000,000.

The project will increase the capacity of the reservation to 45,000 men—approximately the same it attained during the bustling days of 1918.

The blueprints include 109 barracks, seven mess halls, three recreation centers, and a number of drill halls, laundries, dispensaries, administration buildings, fire houses and rifle ranges.

Officials predicted the station would resume the appearance it had in the World War period, when thousands of men from farms and factories were transformed into seamen there.

The Great Lakes cantonment, 1,000 miles from salt water, now draws recruits from 13 midwestern states—the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

Many of them never have set foot on an ocean-going ship, but the training quickly fits them for naval service. Some are sent to specialty schools after they complete primary courses. Others are assigned to the fleet.

British Closing On Rommel for New Year's Kill

Nazis Bombing Malta in Effort To Save African Army.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 31.—(AP)—British tanks and airplanes hacking away at the remnants of General Erwin Rommel's Libyan army were reported tonight closing in for a New Year's kill of the desert troops pocketed along the Gulf of Sirte at Agedabia.

The British officially announced that the German leader hurled his dwindling tank units and infantry against an enveloping southern British arm in an attempt to prevent encirclement.

"A heavy engagement ensued in which we again inflicted considerable damage on enemy armored fighting vehicles and motor transport," the communiqué said.

Axis losses heavy. That action followed Monday's in which the British said the Axis lost 42 tanks to Britain's 14.

The RAF increasingly played a vital role in the bitter fighting 80 miles below Benghazi, raining explosives on Axis positions. British planes also bombed and machine-gunned effectively Axis motorized convoys along the coastal road to Tripoli far to the west. Whether these Axis troops were in flight westward or represented reinforcements for Rommel was not stated.

But the RAF was particularly active between Tripoli and Zuara, a railroad 65 miles west in the direction of the French Tunisian frontier, and between Homs and Mizrata. The latter point is 20 miles east of Tripoli en route to the Agedabia battle zone.

Some observers interpreted the heavy Axis air attacks on the British island of Malta as evidence of German-Italian determination to smash a pathway across the Mediterranean in an effort to retrieve Rommel's battered army.

Malta holds fast. But Malta, between Italian Sicily and Tripoli, and two others continued to send waves of bombers against the Tripolitanian coastal road.

The RAF reported the destruction of one German bomber on the Agedabia front and two others attempting to attack Malta. In all these widespread operations the British said they lost only two aircraft.

Near the Egyptian border an Axis force still held out at Bardia, far to the rear of the main British sweep. British planes and artillery steadily hammered the area and sank a small vessel in the harbor, the communiqué said.

"Herd up" that used stove, heater, fur coat, radio, gun, etc., and "corral" cash by advertising them in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

Civilians Shot As They Fled Honolulu Raid In Philippines

Woman Describes Terror on Island During Jap Attack.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Japanese airmen machine-gunned fleeing civilians on the roads during the December 7 attack on Pearl Harbor, an arriving evacuee reported today.

Mrs. June Cowee, of Kansas City, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Sylvia Prugel, about a half mile from Pearl Harbor, when they were awakened by a terrific explosion.

"We saw several planes come down in flames," Mrs. Cowee said. "It was terrible. We didn't know what to do, so we jumped in our car to get away from there. Ahead of us on the road was a milk truck.

"As the Jap planes came over, they machine-gunned people on the road. The driver of the milk truck jumped out to hide in a field, but before he could get away, they shot him.

"We never thought we would get out alive. We got put in the car and flattened ourselves on the ground. It seemed as though we lay there for hours.

"All around us were planes and shots, and bombs and shells exploding. One bomb fell in a cane field across the road. It showered us with dirt. I'm sure it must have blown a hole big enough to put a house in."

She, the Prugels and the two Prugel children spent the rest of Sunday in a near-by village.

When they returned home Monday, there were shell fragments in the yard and bullet holes in the roof.

Admiral Sadler Sees Attack on Panama Canal

Jap Assault Not Inconceivable From Either End, He Says.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Frank H. Sadler, commander of the 15th Naval District, declared today that "for the Japanese not to attack the Panama Canal is, to my mind, inconceivable."

Therefore, he said at a press conference, nightly blackouts must continue to be observed strictly.

He said the Japanese apparently had spent a long time preparing the Pearl Harbor attack on December 7 and it was known they had been planning an attack on the canal also for a long time.

Precautions on the Atlantic side are just as necessary as on the Pacific, he declared, for an attack might be made at either end.

Manila Facing Surrender

mored units were being hurled against the American and Filipino defenders.

How far the Japs actually were from the city was a confused question. An Associated Press correspondent journeyed by automobile to the front line and back in an hour. Messages flying from one Axis radio station to another set the distance at less than 10 miles.

Orderly Readjustment. Nevertheless, an orderly readjustment of the defense lines was completed. The defending forces were interposing a strong resistance and dealing out death and destruction to the enemy on a large scale.

But, said General Douglas MacArthur, the commanding officer: "Our lines are being pushed back."

Censorship or interrupted communications had virtually ended the receipt of press dispatches from the beleaguered city. Radio telegraph companies refused to accept messages for Manila, or took them only at the sender's risk. The Navy said, however, it was still in touch, presumably by radio.

Capital Not Discouraged. The fall of the city had not been expected here, and word of its critical situation spread no gloom or discouragement in the capital.

For days, the Japanese had been pouring men and war machines onto Luzon, and simply storming the island by the overwhelming force of numerically superior troops and equipment.

The great difficulty of reinforcing the American-Filipino defenders was apparent from the outset, especially in view of the time situation. In the time that has elapsed since the war began troops could barely have reached the island by now under normal circumstances, to say nothing of having to run the Japanese blockade.

Then, too, there was the question of over-all Allied strategy, which apparently considers it more important to concentrate available fighting equipment upon holding the Nazi armies in check until industrial production provides enough fighting tools for assuming the offensive on all fronts.

So it was that many here regretfully wrote off Manila days ago when the plight of the Philippines and the broad outline of Allied grand strategy became apparent. They wrote it off, however, for recapture later, when the material is available for the Allied drive against Japan.

Questions Raised.

The imminent fall of the Filipino capital, however, raised several questions upon which Washingtonians speculated. Would fighting continue in the southern island of Mindanao? This was one of them, and that about Corregidor was another.

Corregidor is a rocky island fortress in the entrance to Manila Bay. Military experts have said it was capable of withstanding a siege of many months. Possibly, it could make things extremely difficult should the Japs attempt to bring their warships into the harbor.

Another was what was to be the fate of General MacArthur, and his high command. Could they be evacuated? Realizing that MacArthur is not the sort of soldier who would run away under such circumstances, many suggested, nevertheless, that it would be foolish for the Army to surrender one of its outstanding field commanders, through any out-moded sense of the personal chivalry of battle.

SCATTERED AIR RAIDS KILL THREE IN INDIES

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Dec. 31.—Scattered and unsystematic Japanese air raids on Netherlands East Indies provinces killed three persons and wounded 19 today and Japanese destroyers ineffectively shelled Menado, Celebes Island, the Dutch command announced tonight.

At Menado, no serious damage and no casualties were reported. Japanese bombing generally has been without apparent plan, the command said, and thus far has wrought no serious damage anywhere.

Reports of Sunday that Japanese parachutists had landed near Medan, Dutch Sumatra, across the Malacca strait from British Malaya, were finally and officially disproved.

It was explained that the original report had been based upon faulty observation; unofficially it was added that Japanese pilots bailing out of crippled planes had been mistaken for invading parachutists.

Air Heroes of Honolulu Attack Anxious To Meet Japs Again

By WENDELL WEBB.

HONOLULU, Dec. 31.—(AP)—American air heroes of the Japanese attack on Oahu Island December 7 agreed today it was grim fun bagging their share of Japanese planes and evidenced a restless eagerness to meet the enemy over the Hawaiian Islands.

Five young Air Corps lieutenants, called to a press conference, modestly and almost reluctantly described their experiences.

They told of being in their barracks when the first bombs fell and of racing to the flying field only to find their planes in flames.

Then they piled into automobiles and raced at 100 miles an hour to another field 10 miles away and roared into the air planes for dog fights all over Oahu Island.

Two of the five already have been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Those gathered in the quiet of the offices of the commanding colonel of Wheeler Field included smiling 23-year-old Lieutenant George Welch, of Wilmington, Del., who topped the list in enemy planes bagged, with four to his credit. Welch landed once while the battle raged and went up again to fight until incendiary bullets threatened to set his plane aflame.

Another was suburned Lieutenant Kenneth Taylor, 22, of Hominy, Okla., who stayed with Welch until bullets ripped into one leg, grazed an arm and battered his plane's instruments.

It was to these two men that the Distinguished Service Cross was awarded.

Then three were Lieutenants Lewis Sanders, 34, of Elkhart, Ind.; Philip Rasmussen, 23, of Boston, and Harry W. Brown, 21, of Amarillo, Tex.—each of whom had accounted for one Japanese plane and every last one insisted the other was just as worthy of mention as they.

The young airmen spoke quietly of the deaths of two of their comrades, Lieutenants James G.

Sterling, West Hartford, Conn., and John Dains, Mount Olive, Ill. They said it was certain that Sterling shot down at least one enemy plane before his own burst into flames and plunged into the ocean.

Rasmussen said regretfully he had been forced to quit the fight when the fuselage of his plane was riddled by 400 bullet holes and his instruments shot away and his rudder jammed.

Brown related how he escaped unhurt from the strafing of enemy planes as he raced to the air field and of saving battle at an altitude of 6,000 feet when he found a comrade engaged against heavy odds.

Brown said his reddish growth of beard dated back to the morning of the assault, when he had no time to shave. He intended to keep it, he said, "until I get another whack at them and get at least one more plane."

Rich's to Begin Great Diamond Jubilee Celebration Tomorrow

Miss Mitchell Will Unveil 5 Large Murals

Pageant and Pictures To Tell Story of Store's Growth.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock Rich's, Inc., will hold the opening celebration of its Diamond Jubilee year, the first of a series of civic, patriotic and educational events commemorating its 75 years of public service and achievement.

Rich's friends throughout Atlanta and the state are invited to attend the celebration which in picture and pageant will tell the story of the growth together of the store, the city, and the state from 1867 to 1942.

Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With the Wind," will unveil the five historical and fashion murals which will adorn the walls of the mammoth first floor in a ceremony at which Walter H. Rich, president of the firm, will preside, and Preston S. Arkwright will be the principal speaker.

Patriotic Theme.

The decorations and music will express a patriotic theme. National banners, the flag of Georgia, and the Diamond Jubilee flag of Rich's will fly together from the facade of the building, and will be displayed throughout the first floor. In the center of the street floor the six-foot reproduction of the Diamond Jubilee Medal, designed by Julian Harris, Atlanta sculptor, will stand upon a revolving base, lit by floodlights. It will remain throughout the anniversary year. Music of the old south and the new will be presented by Rich's Choral Club, and by Bill Clarke's orchestra, ending in a finale in which the choral club descends the street floor escalators singing "Dixie" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Fashion Changes.

Three outstanding American artists painted the murals which commemorate the Diamond Jubilee. "Fashions Through the Years," the largest, is nearly 54 feet in length and five feet in height. Painted by Wilbur Kurtz, distinguished Atlanta artist, who was technical director for the filming of "Gone With the Wind," it has for its theme the changes in women's fashions from Rich's founding in 1867 to the present day.

The two historic murals "Legend of Atlanta" and "Legend of Georgia," were painted by John M. Sitton, native of Forsyth, Ga. Eighteen feet in length and eight feet high, they portray in rich symbolism the highlights in the history of city and state. Something new and different in the field of mural art is represented in the two fashion murals painted by Witold Gordon. Inspired by Rich's fashion authorities, they borrow their colors from the rich red of Georgia clay, the scarlet and gold of Georgia leaves in autumn, the crimson of the Georgia watermelon's heart, the soft white of the dogwood blossom and the myriad glorious colors of the sun-ripened Georgia peach.

Jubilee Windows.

Two hours before the unveiling of the murals, Rich's will open its Diamond Jubilee show windows. Here, in 12 scenes, the theme of the homes of yesterday contrasted with the homes of today will be carried out. After months of research, Rich's display department has gathered authentic costumes and furniture of the old days, which will be used in faithful portrayals of the kitchens, barber shops, parlors and classrooms of the good year 1867.

Outside, on the facade of the present structure that houses the nine sprawling yet integrated acres that is Rich's today will be superimposed a replica of the tiny, rough-boarded store front that marked the entrance to the first Rich's. Above it is the simple legend, "M. Rich, Dry Goods."

The story of that store's growth from its small beginning to today, is the story of a business and a city growing hand-in-hand together, the story of 75 lusty, building years, full of tribulations and of triumphs, of struggle and of victory.

1847—A lusty little railroad town changes its name from placid Marietta to the more resounding "City of Atlanta" . . . and far away a boy is born whose footsteps shall bear a path to that town.

1866—A prostrate and bleeding city begins to rise slowly from the ruins of war . . . and in the east a slender boy named Morris Rich reads of the beginning of that Phoenix-like rebirth.

1867—A tired boy on a tired horse rides the long road to Atlanta through scenes of war's desolation. It is spring, and the honeysuckle splashes the hillsides in color and the dogwood blossoms are like snow against the red clay hills. And in the fire-charred wreckage of Atlanta he sees movement and life, men working, the furious energy of a people rebuilding. He knows the urge that has brought him on his long trek has not been false. With the little hoard he has brought with him in his saddle-bags he builds his first rough little store on Whitehall street.

Atlanta was a three-mile circle of homes and people, its total worth of land and houses set at seven million. Its population was 20,000 friendly people. They learned to like Morris Rich. They learned to trust him and the goods he sold. He prospered with his policy of one price to all and the best that could be sold for the money asked.

1872—Hundreds of 50-cent corsets had been sold. Hundreds of pairs of hose at 25 cents a pair. Hundreds of the great hoop skirts, with bustles and without. And many a pair of the high white calfskin boots with the likeness of "Sitting Bull" burned on their uppers—the boots that Atlanta blades admired. The business had grown too large for one man to handle. Morris Rich sent for his brothers, Daniel and Emanuel.

They came to put their experienced shoulders to an already rolling wheel and Rich's moved to larger quarters across the street at Whitehall and Hunter. Atlanta had begun to thrive.

LEGEND OF ATLANTA—One of the great murals which Rich's will unveil tomorrow night at the celebration which marks the diamond jubilee year of that store is the "Legend of Atlanta," above, by John M. Sitton, of Forsyth. Its companion piece is the huge "Legend of Georgia," rich in symbolism.

FASHIONS THROUGH THE YEARS—Wilbur Kurtz, distinguished Atlanta artist, painted this great mural of dress throughout the ages, which will be unveiled at Rich's diamond jubilee celebration tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The mural will hang over the elevator doors on the ground floor.

GEORGIA COLORS—All the riotous colors of Georgia's red clay, golden leaf, crimson peach, white dogwood are combined in this mural, one of two by Witold Gordon, which will hang on Rich's first floor during the year of their diamond jubilee which begins tomorrow night with a public unveiling.

Carpetbag rule was over. Street-cars were trundling behind their sleepy mules out Whitehall and Peters streets. The magnificent new Kimball House was drawing its distinguished guests. DeGue's Opera House and the Skating Rink were the centers of fun. The free system of public schools was set up. Atlanta thrived, and Rich's with it, until:

1872—Depression hit. But Rich's, and Atlanta, dug in and weathered the storm and things began slowly to improve. Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone. Edison's talking machine first began its squawk and clamor, and a year later the dim bulb of the electric light began to glow.

1880—Life moved swiftly along. A new store, 45 feet by 100, went up at 54-56 Whitehall, heralded as "the handsomest store in town." The first plate glass windows drew the curious. New prosperity brought a new urge to dress well among Atlanta women. They flocked to the new dress-making department. Grover Cleveland came to town, in 1887, and was amazed at its neat cobbled streets, its electric street lamps. A little drug store on Marietta street began, for the second year, to make a drink called Coca-Cola.

1892—Building boomed, Atlanta grew. Rich's decorated and furnished the new homes, large and small, from their new furniture department, just made a part of the store. A young runner from the Gate City bank caught the eye of Morris Rich for his industry and accuracy. His name was David Strauss. He became Rich's financial genius and later its vice president.

1895—The Cotton States and International Exposition focused nation-wide attention on Atlanta. Emanuel Rich was one of its directors. Susan B. Anthony came . . . the Liberty Bell . . . Buffalo Bill.

The first automobiles began to chug on Whitehall street. Grady hospital ministered to the city's suffering. Georgia Tech graduated its fifth class. The first golf club was founded, among some derision.

1901—Rich's built its North Annex, six stories high, doubling its space and installing the first elevator. . . the day of the "call trade" ended, not without loud protest, and the department store as it is known today was founded.

1906—M. Rich had become M. Rich & Bros. Company. . . the shirtwaist was in vogue. . . the sailor hat with dangling veils. . . petticoats were eight yards wide.

1910—Rich's went to market for the plumes and feathers and fine materials that bedecked Atlanta when the Metropolitan Opera Company appeared for the first time outside New York. . . Caruso, Gadsdi and Homer sang.

1918—War brought somber days. . . Rich's employees were in the service. . . People knitted, bought Liberty bonds. Rich's employees began each day with the singing of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and "America."

1919—Weathering the war's disruptions, Rich's leased the southwest corner of Broad and Alabama streets, one of the biggest real estate deals in the city's history.

Atlanta grow, and with it, Rich's. Skirts went up and came back down again. Slat-like flappers gave way to curves. . . the yen for little things, midget radios, automobiles, miniature golf, came and went in the early years of the erratic '30s.

1937. . . Rich's, keeping close to the public heart through the depression, expanded again, created a Fashion Third Floor, air-conditioned all floors, added an employees' recreation roof.

1939. . . Still not enough to meet the needs of a great city. Another million-dollar expansion. . . escalators, a new warehouse, new shipping rooms, a tunnel under Forsyth street, six whole new floors, more floor space beneath one roof than any store in the south could claim.

And now the Diamond Jubilee, with Rich's, headed now by men who hold to the same ideal of the founders, looking forward to many more years of growing and building in a city which has never yet reached its destiny.

Same Creed Holds.

Walter H. Rich, president; Frank H. Neely, executive vice president and secretary; Richard H. Rich and Oscar Strauss Jr., vice presidents, and Ben R. Gordon, treasurer, hold, as their predecessors held, to that same creed which says:

"Merchandise from Rich's MUST be satisfactory. . . it must please you today and please you that much more tomorrow. . . the good name of an institution stands behind our every transaction. We believe in you. . . in your sense of fair play. Believe us when we say. . . You are always right at Rich's."

The story of Rich's is the story of many people doing many things. Two thousand two hundred persons work there. Fifty trucks travel 65,000 miles a month, turning 6,500 gallons of gasoline, to deliver 85,000 packages. Rich's buyers travel a million miles a year on 600 trips to market.

Every day 25,000 persons walk through the doors of Rich's, make nine million trips a year on Rich's elevators, the total population of 15 states, plus all of Georgia.

Two hundred thousand shipments from all over the world bring 12,500,000 items of merchandise to Rich's every year. Rich's sells enough piece goods yearly to pave a walk from Atlanta to Boston, sells more cotton goods in a one-day sale than any other store in the world.

The power consumed per month would run the city of Newnan, Ga., the largest telephone switchboard in the south handles nearly 8,000 calls a day. Seventy-five thousand persons have charge accounts at Rich's, 30,000 new ones come in every year. Twelve customers have been buying at Rich's for 50 years, three for 70 years.

Defense Chiefs Speed Georgia County Setups

Complete Instructions and Charts Sent to District Leaders.

Action to have every Georgia county organized for civilian protection by Monday morning was taken yesterday by the State Defense Committee.

Headquarters sent full instructions and charts to district chairmen and in some instances direct to county chairmen, to show each step to be taken.

This material will be used in county committee meetings Saturday morning and will be the basis of the scheduled gathering of 1,000,000 Georgians at church services Sunday evening.

Monday morning the whole state will have been covered with definite county and local organizations. Chairman Robert B. Irtzman declared. "All of our people will know or have available information upon just what to do in preparing for emergency."

Arrangements were made by Major Joan Jeffries, Army liaison officer, to furnish Army officers as speakers where needed at the Sunday evening services. County chairmen, aided by members of the Georgia Bar Association and veterans organizations, will present the unified program for civilian safety.

Early appointment is expected of officials to tie in the specific services, such as fire-prevention, rescue and first aid, with like branches of district and county organizations.

County organization, in many cases already accomplished in outline, has been adapted to population. One plan applies to counties with less than 2,500 persons; a second to those having between that number and 5,000, and a third for those of more than 5,000 population.

The following program for the Sunday service was suggested:

1. Advancement of colors where color guard available.

2. Invocation.

3. Congregational singing, first and last stanzas "America."

4. Opening remarks explaining purpose of meeting—county chairman or presiding officer selected by him in consultation with local clergymen.

5. Choir or vocal solo selection (Kipling's "Recessional" or similar composition.)

6. Fifteen-minute address by speaker supplied from local legal fraternity, American Legion or other patriotic group. (Introduced by county chairman.)

7. Remarks by county chairman of women's division if one has been named for county.

8. Explanation of fire rationing program by spokesman for or person selected to head local fire rationing board, based on circular letter of instructions from State Rationing Officer Forbes, December 30, 1941.

9. Five-minute exhortation by United States Army officer, if available, substantiating need to conserve rubber for military necessity.

10. Congregation join in singing chorus of "God Bless America."

11. Benediction by pastor of different denomination from clergyman who pronounced invocation.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back (Adv.)

Georgia Moves To Accelerate Trade Training

Womack Reveals Plan To Expand Classes at OPM Behest.

Plans for a quick expansion of the state's vocational training program so more Georgians may be equipped for a part in the battle of production were announced yesterday by J. R. Womack, assistant state superintendent of industrial and trade education.

Classes will be lengthened from six to eight hours a day to cut two weeks off the training courses. Womack said the number of men and women in training, now totaling around 3,700, would be increased by one-third soon.

The OPM has asked all states to accelerate their programs, particularly workers for the vital aviation and shipbuilding industries.

An immediate start on expanding the Georgia program will be made by training some 4,000 laborers who have been laid off recently in Atlanta, Buford and Austell because of curtailed production of nonessential industry.

Womack said classes to train welders, ship fitter helpers, machine operators, ship carpenters, radio repairers and skilled workers for the aviation industry would be begun in the Atlanta and Fulton schools and at Georgia Tech.

Training already is under way at these three centers, but Womack said the classes would be expanded to care for 500 additional students.

At Buford, classes will be started to train 70 workers in ship welding. Instructors will be sent there from the Savannah schools and welding equipment originally intended for Rome will be transferred to Buford.

The schools at Atlanta and Buford will turn out 570 workers every 10 weeks, Womack said, in addition to those already being trained in the Atlanta area.

Transfer Equipment. He explained that the OPM has requested the state to transfer training equipment to places where there are reservoirs of unemployed workers. He said, however, that the current program at Rome would not be curtailed because the equipment sent to Buford had just been acquired and had never been in use at Rome.

At present, schools at Atlanta, Columbus, Savannah, Albany, Dalton, Waycross and Augusta are now operating on a 24-hour basis. Womack said the other training schools would likewise work around the clock as soon as equipment could be acquired.

These schools are at Griffin, Rome, Athens, Newnan, Dublin, Swainsboro, Toccoa and Jackson.

The training of defense workers is financed by the federal government.

War Baby Is Atlanta's First For 1942; Arrives at 12:00:35

Young Mr. 1942 arrived in Atlanta at exactly 35 seconds after midnight this morning.

Although 35 seconds late, the youngster immediately laid claims to all sorts of records, distinctions and what not.

He filed his claims with a lusty yell and physicians and nurses at the Emory University hospital scurried about in an effort to pacify him.

Mr. 1942 is the lusty son of Lieutenant and Mrs. L. C. Holtzendorf, 3925 Wieuca road.

In addition to being Atlanta's first born of 1942, the young gentleman also claimed he was a war baby, and demanded recognition as the nation's first baby of the year.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Frank Chafin, of Washington; two brothers, J. B. Wingfield, of Umatilla, Fla., and Hester Wingfield, of Atlanta.

Powder Found That Provides 'Flu' Protection

Discovery Believed First Step Toward Immunizing Humans.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 31.—(AP)—A little dry powder that may be the first step toward immunizing human beings against influenza was described today to the American Society of Bacteriologists.

The potent stuff—one-tenth of a milligram kills a rabbit—opens a path toward warding off such a wartime epidemic of influenza as killed untold thousands in 1918.

From one type of influenza bacteria, Dr. Rene J. Dubos, of the hospital of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, developed a dry, stable soluble powder of the toxic substances which those bacteria produce. This powder is free of bacteria itself.

Minute injections of dissolved toxin immunized rabbits, made them completely resistant to the live influenza bacteria.

The toxin, as yet produced only in small quantity, has not been tried on humans, Dr. Dubos said, nor even on swine, which are susceptible to influenza epidemics like men. But it is a significant step toward an antitoxin for humans.

First proof of a disease organism that affects both animal and plant worlds was reported by Dr. Armin C. Braun and R. P. Elrod, of Princeton, N. J., research workers of the animal and plant pathology department, Rockefeller Institute.

This organism, Pseudomonas aeruginosa, found in the soil, can be transferred from plants to humans and animals, and from animals to plants.

In humans it creates an infection. It can kill small animals. In plants it produces rotting.

WAVELL CABLES STIMSON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—General Sir Archibald Wavell, British commander in chief in India, today cabled Secretary of War Stimson wishing the United States Army success in 1942 "on behalf of all the troops under my command."

Brantley Resident Is Found Dead

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 31.—The body of a young man found in a city drainage canal here Tuesday was definitely identified as that of Carris Martin, 27, who had been missing from his farm home near Colgan's Still, in Brantley county, for six days.

Authorities here had been asked to assist in locating him.

A coroner's jury inquiring into Martin's death, returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning, according to Coroner E. C. Altman.

There were no indications of foul play or violence, the coroner's jury decided, accepting the theory that Martin stumbled into the drainage canal which passed through a culvert beneath the highway and which was swollen by heavy rains.

The body was found face downward, completely covered by water.

LEADER NAMED.

Savannah Designs Headlight Dimmer

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 31.—(AP) An automobile headlight dimmer, designed by Mark Sheridan, local artist, was tested in the blackout here.

The device is a cone-shaped cardboard cap fitting over the headlight. Near the apex of the cap, which projects about 10 inches from the lamp, is a slit three-sixteenths of an inch wide and three inches long. The slit is covered with a diaphanous blue material.

'Life With Father' at Erlanger Tops New Year Entertainment

By LEE ROGERS.

The New Year leads off in entertainment with a stage production and two new films.

Topping the newcomers is "Life With Father," Broadway stage play, which will open a three-day, four-performance engagement at the Erlanger theater tonight.

Film openings are: "Skyark," with Claudette Colbert, at the Fox.

"Babes on Broadway," with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, at Loew's.

Combination film and stage offering opening today is "Karston Show of 1942" and "Perfect Snob" at Capitol.

"Sergeant York," moving now from the Paramount to the Roxy, "Bedtime Story," at the Rialto, "Louisiana Purchase," changing from the Fox to the Paramount.

"Tarzan's Secret Treasure," moving from the Grand to the Rhodes.

Erlanger
"Life With Father," the Broadway hit play which has almost become permanent with a continuous run since the fall of 1939, comes to the Erlanger theater to usher in a season of legitimate state at 8 o'clock tonight.

Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern have the leading roles in this comedy hit, which is a series of short stories by the late Clarence Day made into a play by Russell Crouse and Howard Lindsay. The latter still playing the principal role in the Broadway company.

"Life With Father" tells of the hilarious life of a family in the latter part of the nineteenth century. It is warm, sincere and humorous. The story of a family who sincerely enjoyed each other's company, but lived in grave respect of father's every wish.

This play is the first non-musical effort of Lindsay and Crouse as a playwright team and it will be presented here by the company which originated it in Boston, a company which Sam M. Weller, its press representative, says has rolled up larger grosses than either the New York or Chicago companies.

Loew's
Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland invite you to swing into the New Year with them at Loew's today as their newest musical, "Babes on Broadway," gets under way.

"Babes on Broadway" is the natural follow to this same couple's success in "Buck in Arms," and marks the first picture for either since (1) Judy got married and (2) Mickey got himself engaged. Your juvenile favorites are in the kissing-serious stage now and one of the principal scenes has to do with their first kiss without Andy Hardy flavor.

The kids put on a stage performance which wows Broadway. Mickey and Judy do specialties, and young Mr. Rooney astounds his fans with his ability at being versatile, going through more routines than a vaudeville troupe and bringing down most houses with his impersonation of the Brazilian bombshell, Carmen Miranda.

Songs include: "Chin Up, Cheerio, Carry On!" "How About You," "Babes on Broadway," "Anything Can Happen in New York," "Hoe, Down," "Rings on My Fingers, Bells on My Toes." In the supporting cast are Fay the Rialto theater for another week.

The story is primarily concerned with the marital difficulties of a playwright and his actress-wife. Things come to such a pass that wife gets a divorce, and proceeds to marry again. Allyn Joslyn being the groom. But just before the marriage is to take place, March finds out the divorce was illegal and off he goes on a wild chase to try to prevent his wife from becoming a bigamist.

Alexander Hall has directed this film with a view to comedy and entertainment alone.

Roxy
"Sergeant York" is out to set another record in Atlanta. It seems determined to play every theater in the city before it stops its first run. Starting at the Fox, it did two weeks capacity business, then it moved to the Paramount last week, where it did more business than that theater did any week all year, and today it moves to the Roxy theater for another week.

It now has only the Capitol to play to have made the record of playing all the downtown L&J houses.

"Sergeant York" is without a doubt one of the two outstanding films of the year. It has a great cast, a timely subject and has been produced with the desire to make a war hero human. Gary Cooper will probably win the Academy Award for his title role performance and Margaret Wycherly, as Mother York, will probably get the supporting actress award.

Paramount
"Louisiana Purchase" moves from the Fox to the Paramount today for another week's run with Victor Moore, Bob Hope, Vera Zorina, Irene Bordoni, Dona Drake and Raymond Walburn in the cast.

This is the story—in comedy and music—of Senator Oliver P. Loganberry's (Moore) investigation of the Louisiana Purchasing Company which Bob Hope heads. Most of the comedy is taken up with efforts to compromise the senator into calling off the investigation and the compromisers range all the way from Zorina to Bordoni, back to Dona Drake and including all the pretty maids of the Mardi Gras festival.

The film is in Technicolor and is jam up entertainment.

Rhodes
"Tarzan's Secret Treasure" moves to the Rhodes theater from the Grand, featuring Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan and Raymond Walburn in the cast.

FRIENDSHIP, HONOR, SERVICE

This is the year of our Diamond Jubilee. In an humble spirit of gratitude and appreciation, we approach the 75th Anniversary of our founding, and are planning an entire year of celebration.

On this occasion we rededicate ourselves to the service of the City of Atlanta, of the State of Georgia, and of the United States of America.

We reaffirm the sound principles formulated by our founders . . . we pledge ourselves anew to unstinted effort in civic, educational and patriotic pursuits . . . we rekindle and revitalize our watch-words . . . FRIENDSHIP, HONOR, SERVICE.

Based on a firm foundation of justice, fair play and an abiding faith in our fellowman and in the future . . . Rich's marches on.

Conflicts and wars have marked our history and our progress. Rich's was founded amid the wreckage of war in 1867 . . . our Golden Jubilee was celebrated during the first World War, out of which we emerged a Southern Institution . . . our Diamond Jubilee finds the world again fighting for its life, its liberty, and its pursuit of happiness . . . and we face the future grateful in the knowledge that our growth and progress enable us to play a part in the National effort ahead.

On this New Year's Day we join with our friends in a prayer for unwavering confidence, courage and hope. We join with a people who have never before been so strongly united in spirit, in purpose, and in love for their country.

Debutantes Meet Next Week To Form Defense Work Club

By SALLY FORTH.

THE DEBUTANTES, bless their fluttery and tender hearts, always will inspire a great deal of interest. Although the formal parties have reached a happy ending, their future plans continue to intrigue the public fancy. No date has yet been set because their president, Mary Frances Broach, is out of the city, but the debutantes will meet next week at the Driving Club to determine in which branch of the American Red Cross they will enroll. Some favor first aid, others like the motor corps division, and several would like to engage in canteen work. Through these mediums the group of lovelies will emerge from a butterfly existence into a mode of life necessarily prescribed by a country at war.

However, here is the "low-down" on how the debbies will greet the New Year, with something of their whereabouts, activities, and plans, before they plunge wholeheartedly into defense work. Caroline Yundt looks forward to her visit this month to her brothers, Ensign George Yundt and Albert Yundt, who have dedicated themselves to the United States Navy. Caroline will motor to Charleston with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Yundt, who are anxious to pay their sons a visit in the South Carolina city. When February rolls around, the attractive Debutante Club vice president will accompany Eleanor Clay and her father, Dr. Grady Clay, on their jaunt to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Keeler Newton will be among the excited spectators witnessing the Orange Bowl football game today in Miami. She motored to Florida with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howell Newton, of Forsyth. Keeler plans to visit Tampa, Fla., later in the winter, where she will participate in the famed Gasparilla Carnival. While there she will be the guest of Helen Gilmore, her roommate at Agnes Scott College.

First-aid courses are in the offing for Sallie Cobb Johnson, Josephine McDougall and Clare Hewlett, who have already signed "on the dotted line" to work for the American Red Cross. Josephine is also considering offering her time and energy as a member of the motor corps. Mary Ellen Orme and Karen Norris will add their names to the list of first-aiders. Karen will not return to Sweet Briar College. She will remain with her mother during the absence of her father, Dr. Jack Norris, who is serving his country in the medical field.

The sooner Margaret Harmon goes to work for Uncle Sam, the better she will like it, for this popular debutante is ready and willing to contribute her services. Margaret will have a busy winter. Accompanied by Marion Knowles, she leaves in the near future for Florida to be the guest of Virginia Dulaney at the Dulaney resort home near Fort Myers.

Talented Virginia Richardson will resume her studies at the High Museum of Art, where she is taking her second-year course of portrait painting and commercial art.

Mary Frances Broach could not be contacted, since she is spending the remainder of the holidays in south Georgia. She is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Holmes in Moultrie, where she is being royally entertained. However, she already has announced that she will take a Red Cross first-aid course along with the other members of the club.

Margaret Peavy, the club's secretary, is such a busy person that she rarely ever can be found at home. But Sally tracked her down long enough to learn that she, too, will spend at least part of her time doing defense work and will enroll for a first-aid course.

A Red Cross first-aid course also is included in Larue Mizell's plans, along with the continuance of her course in interior decorating, which now occupies the early morning hours for this particular deb. Larue will complete a two-year course this spring and hopes that some day she will be a full-fledged decorator.

Several of the debutantes have been combining scholastic endeavors with their social activities and will return to their respective colleges next week. Among these are Margie Troutman, who leaves Sunday for Sweet Briar College, from where she will be graduated in June; Betty Hoyt, who attends the University of Georgia; Jennelle Wilhite, who is a student at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.; Julia Fleet, who will continue her studies at Bryn Mawr College, and Sally Spencer has resumed her studies at Stephens College.

Mimi Pappenheimer, whose energies are unlimited, plans to "plunge into war work" with vim and vigor. She already has completed one Red Cross first-aid course and is now trying to decide between an advanced first-aid course or one in home nursing. A part of her time also will be devoted to rolling bandages for the Red Cross and knitting for the Red Cross. Knitting, incidentally, is one of her favorite pastimes.

Mary Hodgson is another of the debbs who will confine her energy and interest in activities of the Red Cross. She has also made tentative plans to en-tain some of her sister debts at a house party at Jolima, the mountain home of her parents at Highlands, N. C.

A trip to Savannah to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McQueen, is in store for Carolyn Reed, who wants one more "fling" in the coastal city before taking up her duties as receptionist at her father's office. Carolyn worked in the office during the past summer, but when the debut season got under way she took a temporary leave of absence. She will intersperse her work with her Red Cross activities.

A job in one of the city's leading department stores is on the 1942 calendar for Marion Knowles, who is going to embark upon a business career right away. In her spare time, she plans to knit for the Red Cross, and attend night classes in a first-aid course.

C. C. Proctor aspires to be a staff assistant to the American Red Cross, and will enroll in the course as soon as it starts after the new year.

When you are serving your hog jowl and peas today for good luck, be sure to remember the students at the Naval Air Base and include them in your plans for dinner on Sunday, since all leaves were cancelled for today. If you have not already called, be sure to phone Mrs. W. C. Dutton at Hemlock 1467 and tell her how many you will take.

THE FRIENDS here of Anna Harriett Shewmake (Mrs. Rufus) Thayer, wife of Commander Thayer, U. S. N., will be interested to learn that she is safe at Pearl Harbor and has written the following interesting letter to her father, Claude Shewmake:

"We are all fine. On December 9 I sent a message to Rufus's mother in San Francisco asking her to notify all members of the family. The acute situation has been alleviated. People have decided to take things in their stride. Blackouts have been successful, and most of us have blackout rooms. Ruf gets in to see us occasionally. His job is materials officer on the base force staff, Admiral W. M. Calhoun's staff. Base officers are in (not at sea) most of the time."

"We have our meals at the hotel and stay nights with a friend, Mrs. M. E. Thomas, whose husband is on the staff with Ruf. She has a lovely home high in the hills. We do not have any knowledge of evacuation. If necessary, it will be done. It may be we will come to you in Atlanta. I will have to let you know more about that later. I have been working with the Motor Corps. It is good to feel one can help. The biggest help is for all of us wherever we are to KEEP CALM, and do the necessary work, and do not waste energy on trifles."

The letter from Anna Harriett came from Honolulu and bore the stamp of release by the I. C. B.

Funsters Throng Night Spots To See the Old Year Out

Gaiety reigned at Atlanta night spots last evening in celebration of one of the most festive New Year's Eves in the history of this city. The war, and the seriousness of the coming year were not forgotten, but fun enthusiasts gathered to see the old year out—and to toast Victory in the New Year.

The Rainbow Roof of the Ansley hotel was the scene of one of the most colorful parties of the evening, with the room packed to capacity by a joyous throng wearing red, white and blue paper caps and employing noisemakers with unusual vigor. Floor shows during the dinner-dance featured clever impersonations and dance acts by Richards and Carson, and an exhibition of the Samba by the DeSylva twins.

Music was continuous in the Empire room of the Biltmore hotel, where two orchestras played syncopated rhythm. Covers were marked by exciting favors, balloons and paper hats, and prizes of champagne were awarded guests. The patriotic motif prevailed in the decorations. Among those entertaining at large parties were Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Regenstein, Mr. and Mrs. R. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kline, R. Stricklin, I. H. Rubb, S. Haskins, John Thomas, W. W. Thomas, Dr. Cecil White and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mabry.

New Year's Eve was celebrated in the Paradise room of the Henry Grady hotel from 10 to 5 o'clock. Guests began the evening with dinner and completed it at breakfast. Each cover was marked by a bottle of champagne, and the entertainment featured Gene Austin, the Cappa Barra boys, as well as dance acts by Nichols and Haley and acrobatics by Shirley Gaye.

MY DAY: New Year Resolution For America

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday.—New Year's Eve, and at midnight we shall be drinking a toast to the United States of America, with more troubled hearts than any of us have known in the past. Yet, we shall drink it with a greater determination that this coming year will see the dawn of victory. We shall affirm again our beliefs, and determine to build a stronger United States to serve the rest of the world, as an example of what democracy can really mean to the people of a nation.

We shall wish, of course, to alleviate in every way we possibly can the hardships that are bound to come to any nation that has to put aside the civilian needs of the population and has concentrated primarily on its war needs. There will be plenty of work in some localities, less work in others. There will be a need for restraining workers to meet new types of occupation. There will be a need for moving people from places where they have lived for a long while to other parts of the country.

I wonder today whether there is some special resolution which all in this country should make. We could resolve to look for the contributions which all the other countries of the world can make in developing plans for more permanent peace, greater justice and economic opportunity for the future.

The English-speaking peoples will, probably, when peace first comes to this earth, have to bear a heavy burden. They must lighten that burden as quickly as possible, through the participation of all the free countries in this hemisphere. Liberated people in other parts of the world must join with us as soon as they can, if we are to have a program which expresses the aspirations and hopes now hidden in the hearts of people throughout the world.

dwarfed all other considerations. Hollywood responded to the emergency to a person—not only the men—but the women, too, who came through and offered their services, both by raising money for supplies, for the Army, Navy and Marines, by appearing for USO, by enrolling in the Ambulance Corps and in Red Cross work and, in some cases by enlisting among the rank and file of civilian defense units.

The industry responded magnificently to the call of the USO. The nation's film theaters alone came through with a check for more than $1,000,000 to this one organization. The various studios contributed training shorts for the Army. They were made under the supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck. These shorts were produced with absolutely no cost to the government—studios, various guilds and the unions contributing their services free of charge.

The most sensational success in Hollywood was registered by a comedy team—plump Lou Costello and his lean sidekick, Bud Abbott. The two boys came here from radio, and after their first picture it was evident the public wanted to laugh and that comedy was king. Not since Charlie Chaplin's day have any comics been as enthusiastically received as these two Universal funsters.

Apocryphal of comedy, Bob Hope's popularity zoomed to even greater heights during the past 12 months. Aside from being recognized as a great humanitarian, and being one actor who never turns down an appeal to aid at a benefit, Bob Hope is today in the very front rank of entertainers.

If publicity is a criterion, Rita Hayworth, Gene Tierney and Veronica Lake are the three outstanding newcomers. Veronica, whose unique hairdress is one lock worn over her eye, was the subject of many magazine and newspaper articles. Rita was probably the most photographed girl of the year. From a demure ingenue, she developed into the screen's most glamorous siren, comparable to Nita Naldi and Pola Negri in their day.

Veronica took time out to have a baby, and she was only one of many who took vacations from their careers to welcome the stork. Mary Martin, Lili Damita, Jane Wyman, Virginia Bruce, Lois Andrews, Constance Moore and Constance Bennett have already had their packages from heaven delivered, while Alice Faye is awaiting her blessed event. The Bob Hopes added to their family, also the Preston Posters and the Pat O'Briens, by adopting babies.

The Deanna Durbin-Vaughn Paul wedding was one of the outstanding social events of the year. At this writing Deanna and Vaughn are on their way to England to entertain in the camps there. The little star is now arguing with Universal over the right to select her own stories.

It was also only a banner year for marriages. Hollywood divorces were fewer than at any previous time.

The industry was saddened by the deaths of the pioneer producer J. Stuart Blackton, Victor L. Schertzinger, James Stephenson, Helen Morgan, Charlie Murray, Joe Penner, Eddie Leonard, Lew Fields, Gus Kahn, Stanley Fields, Peggy Shannon, Mary McEvoy, Richard Carle and Armand Kaliz. The Hays office dealt a blow to the "sweater girls," including Betty Grable, Lana Turner among others, by refusing to let them wear revealing sweaters on the screen.

Betty Davis was the first woman to be elected president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and it is the consensus that this recognition was well deserved, for Betty herself has been twice winner of the Golden Oscar, the academy's award of merit.

There were so many good pictures during 1941 it is no wonder every company has had a profitable year, in spite of the almost 100 per cent loss of a foreign market and the war.

Among the best pictures of 1941 were: "Sergeant York," "Hold Back the Dawn," "The Little Foxes," "Blossoms in the Dust," "Caught in the Draft," "Dumbo," "How Green Was My Valley," "All That Money Can Buy," "Meet John Doe," "Men of Boys Town," "Tom, Dick and Harry," "That Hamilton Woman," "Penny Serenade," "Weekend in Havana," "The Lady Eve," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "Unfinished Business," "Lydia," "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," "The Maltese Falcon," "Man Hunt," "Reluctant Dragon," "Cheers for Miss Bishop," and "Whistling in the Dark."

Gratitude Is a Poor Substitute for Love

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

I am a young girl of 15 and have been with many boys in my two years of dating. I met D. one month before he left for service. I love him, and I know he loves me. He has come many miles to see me and has given me all that I have asked for. He sends me many things from where he has been. He does not have much use for his family. My family likes him very much. He has asked me to marry him. Now I have met T., whom I have been dating for four months regularly. He has a car and we double date quite often and go to a show. My people have no use for him, nor does anyone else, because of his background. He has asked me to give up D. I cannot see how I can possibly do this to D., after he has been so nice to me. Both D. and T. have met, and they cannot stand the sight of each other. D. is 22 and T. is 18. What must I do?

As for D., I do not think I would consider what he has done for you as the reason for not giving him up. There should be some personal feeling about him, rather than just gratitude for what you were able to get from him. If you do not love him, and feel that you do love T., then do not hang on to D., just for the possibility of what he might give you in the future. T. does not sound like a very good prospect to me, and I would not lose D. on his account. You seem a bit young to take this matter so seriously and since I do not think that you will marry either of them right away, the best thing to do will be just to go along with both of them without serious feelings. You do not have to be so in love, just be friendly with them, and let time take care of the matter for you. You have time on your side, and it will work wonders in solving your problem.

A Dress Planned for Easy Sewing

By Lillian Mae.

Pattern 4981.

If you're busier than a bee these days, yet want to make yourself a jolly new home frock, why not order Pattern 4981 by Lillian Mae? It takes very little time to sew—there are only four main sections back and front. The bias insets at the waist give a slim look to this dress—the tie-belt in front is optional. And aren't the white collar and cuffs a refreshing note? Top-stitch them if you like, or make them of the same fabric as the dress. The Sewing Instructor has a step-by-step plan that aids in sewing this as quickly as possible. Other choices are long sleeves, revers and ric-rac trim, and the belt may be used in back instead of in front, or omitted altogether. Pattern 4981 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 1/4 yards 35-inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrast.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number. Here comes the spring fashion parade in the new Lillian Mae Pattern Book—just out! Each style is newsy, smart and easy to make. The latest silhouettes are shown in day and evening modes. There are trim street outfits; smart town-and-country commuters. American-designed prints and cottons. Slimming on-a-budget matron styles. Graduation and wedding gowns. Deb date-frocks; "small fry" play and party clothes. A bookful of fashion—for fifteen cents. Send your order to Lillian Mae Pattern Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney, one of the favorite star teams of 1941, are on hand to wish you the best in New Year's. They are playing in "Babes on Broadway."

Wedding Breakfast Follows Stockdale-Pratt Marriage

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Louise Stockdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Stockdale, of Decatur, to George William Pratt was solemnized yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church. Father A. B. Barrett officiated at the marriage service.

Vincent Hurley, organist, and Mrs. Ernest Trotti, soloist, presented a program of music.

An arrangement of palms and white chrysanthemums with 21 branched candelabra formed the decorations on the beautiful altar. Cathedral candles marked the pews reserved for the families.

Serving as ushers were Harry Kelly and Winton Coggins. Jack Pratt acted as groomsmen.

The bride's sisters were her only attendants. Mrs. Jack Wright serving as matron of honor and Miss Nancy Stockdale as maid of honor. Their gowns of white tulle were fashioned alike with yokes of net and val lace. They wore brief veils trimmed with white ostrich feathers, and carried white flower muffs of carnations showered with sweetheart roses and narrow satin ribbons.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. They were met at the altar by the groom and Henry Adderbury, who served as best man. Her beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of white slipper satin, the flared skirt ending in a fan-shaped train. Her finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was caught to her tulle hair with a crown of pearls. She carried a white satin prayerbook with a spray of white orchids and showered with staphanotis.

Mrs. Stockdale chose for her daughter's wedding an ensemble of coral woolen with kolinsky furs. She wore black accessories and a shoulder spray of orchids. Mrs. H. J. Pratt, mother of the groom, wore aqua crepe with black accessories, accented by a shoulder cluster of orchids.

After the wedding service, the bride's parents entertained at a wedding breakfast at the Georgian Terrace hotel. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of Easter lilies and small white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Pratt and his bride left for a wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. Pratt chose a model of beige woolen, trimmed with kelly green. Her topcoat of beige featured a beaver collar and accessories were brown. A spray of orchids graced her shoulder.

Women's C. of C. All Out for Defense.

At the recent meeting of the Women's Chamber of Commerce, held at the Ansley hotel, Mrs. Ann V. Werber, president, announced that a program for defense work would be presented at its January 19 meeting, as it is the intention of the members to devote their efforts towards an intensive program of defense activities and to co-operate with other women's organizations throughout the city.

A letter has been sent to Mayor Roy LeCraw praising steps that have been taken to assure protection of Atlanta and its people. Over 200 hours of work in rolling bandages and making surgical dressings for the American Red Cross have been contributed by members, as well as a large number of knitted garments. Contributions of large quantities of magazines have been made to the Soldiers' Community Center for distribution at Lawson hospital and Fort McPherson. Members filled stockings to be sent to service men at Lawson hospital and the Naval Reserve air base.

In an effort to give further happiness to patients at Lawson hospital, the Women's Chamber of Commerce joined with the Pilot Club in sponsoring a concert by Benny Strong and his orchestra, through the kindness of Carling Dinkler, who will play at Lawson on December 26 at 3 o'clock.

Nine O'Clocks Don Dominos for Ball At Driving Club

Members of the exclusive Nine O'Clocks and their guests rang in the year 1942 at the organization's traditional New Year's Eve ball held last evening at the Piedmont Driving Club.

A giant clock, its hands pointing to the hour of 9, featured the decorations. Adding color and merriment were the jewel-toned masks worn by the guests until whistles and sirens sounded the midnight hour.

It always has been the custom of the Nine O'Clocks to don costumes for this annual affair, a tradition which was eliminated this year. Instead members, so inclined individually, will donate the money they would have spent on fancy dress to some defense program of their own choosing.

A well-known orchestra presented the music for the dancing, which was enjoyed by several hundred members of fashionable Atlanta society and prominent guests from a distance.

Officers of the Nine O'Clocks, who acted as official hosts, include Jack Adair, president; Jack Glenn, secretary and treasurer, and James H. Franklin, Douglas Robertson and Sam Dorsey, members of the board.

New Year's Day.
New sheet on the calendar. And all that.

Resolutions. All good, but no better than the ones left over from last year—which reveal little signs of use.

That resolution to swear off John Barleycorn, for instance, is hamstrung from the start—at least in cities where New Year's Eve is an all-night feast. The penitent wakes up about noon, with a shudder. He remembers his resolution. But he also remembers he busted it—beginning at 12:01 a. m. So there's nothing he can do but put it off another year.

Psychologists say swearing off doesn't work so well. It preys on one's mind. Like the generous father who promised his little boy a quarter if he'd go stand in the corner for five minutes and not think about elephants.

It's a wise thing to make a resolution to save all the money you can this year. But to make it work you must have some money to save. So that spoils that.

I could think up a lot of other good resolutions, but what's the use? The garbage men have hardly finished cleaning up the broken Christmas toys.

Expert Counting

Observers of Savannah Audubon Society have completed a census of birds, revealing an increase in the past year from 37,963 to 47,709, with the number of each variety from Florida cormorants to the chipping sparrow—of which there was one.

That's what I'd call a job—listing birds. I know, because I once tried to count a litter of young pigs and they always added up either seven or nine. I struck an average and reported eight.

"A fool can ask a question a wise man can't answer," says an ancient axiom. Children can baffle their elders, too.

Dr. Wightman F. Melton recalls a small boy in Mississippi who always wanted to know "how come?" and lists some of his queries in the Griffin Daily News:

"How come it ain't summer all the time?"

"How come a fish can't smile?"

"How come a cat in a fur coat gets cold?"

"How come women's ain't bald headed?"

"How come a boy can't kiss his elbow?"

"How come plug tobacco makes me sick?"

"How come a worm ain't got no feet?"

"How come a black cow gives white milk?"

"How come the toes is shorter'n the fingers?"

"How come a rooster crows and a hen cackles?"

"How come a elephant is so big an' a flea so little?"

"How come a gun kicks?"

"How come water in a well?"

"How come sugar sweet and vinegar sour?"

"How come two eyes, two ears, and one nose?"

According to Allan M. Trout, who does a column for the Louisville Courier-Journal, Governor

New Year's Day, Resolutions and Other Debris

Johnson, of Kentucky, is a frugal—or at least a careful—soul. He spends freely, dresses as nautically as the once famous Mayor Jimmie Walker, mayor of New York, but—

Columnist Trout, interviewing the Governor, discovered a big hole in the gubernatorial right shoe. His sock was right down on the ground—where Governor's ears are supposed to be.

But Governor Johnson exhibited his left shoe, which had recently been half-soled and was proof against rain, snow or carpet tacks.

"When one of your shoes has a hole in it don't you send both to the cobbler?" asked Trout.

"Of course not," said the Governor. "Who ever heard of such a thing. I send the shoe that needs fixing."

How does he ever make them come out even?

How swiftly come changes! And I am not thinking of peace and war but of weather. Seems only yesterday Georgia was suffering from a record drought—and now the Flint river at Albany has reached flood stage.

Dandelions may furnish crude rubber for automobile tires, says a science note. If the tires have no more stamina than the whey my Aunt Mattie used to brew from dandelions I'll start out walking—instead of walking back.

Atlanta's 1941 Home Building Drops 50 Pct.

Figures Reflect Erection of Fewer Federal Housing Projects.

Construction activity in Atlanta for 1941 dropped to less than half of the 1940 figure, but federal housing projects and ample building supplies were credited for the large 1940 program.

While 2,797 permits were issued by the city building inspection department for 1941, and they had a total value of $6,747,866, the 1940 figure showed 3,282 permits valued at $14,558,861, according to statistics compiled by Wallace Screws, deputy inspector.

In 1941, low cost housing projects were constructed for 179 families, with a value of $611,400, but in 1940 homes were provided for 2,658 families and the value was placed at $7,102,641.

Exclusive of the low-cost housing projects, construction for 1941 was valued at $6,136,466 while that for 1940 was valued at $7,102,641. A large decline in December, 1941, building as compared to December, 1940, was blamed by Screws on inability to obtain materials because of priorities.

In December, 1941, the department issued 189 permits for construction valued at $283,038, as compared to 178 permits valued at $721,424 for December, 1940.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

NINETEEN FORTY-TWO.
"Arise for our help, and redeem us for Thy mercies' sake," Psalm 44:26.

That is my verse for today. The Psalmist offered this prayer in the long ago, and I offer it this first day of 1942. How else could I dare face the tasks of today and of this year?

They tell us that the word in the original Hebrew here is a very significant word, meaning literally "a Help for us." It is the same word which we find in Psalm 46:1—"a very present Help in time of trouble," and again in Psalm 124:8—"our Help is in the Lord." My watchword for 1942 is a couplet from Tennyson's "Locksley Hall":

"Yet I doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs,
And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns."

Confident that God is, and that He is the rewarder of all who diligently seek Him, and believing that through the ages one increasing purpose runs—the coming of the Kingdom of God—I face the tasks of today and of this year, praying, "Arise for our help, and redeem us for Thy mercies' sake."

We have got to win this war, and whilst we are winning this war we have got to carry on the great essential tasks of our everyday life. That will require a strength and a wisdom not our own. We must look to God, through Jesus Christ, for this strength and wisdom. Thus panicked, we can say with Malbabe Babcock:

Be strong!
We are not here to play—to dream, to drift.

We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle—face it; 'tis God's gift.

Be strong!
Say not the days are evil; who's to blame?
And fold the hands and acquiesce. O shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's Name.

Be strong!
It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day how long;
Paint not—fight on! Tomorrow comes the song.

And, relying completely upon His grace, we can sing with John Oxenham:

Beyond the war clouds and the reddened ways,
I see the Promise of the Coming Days!
I see His Sun arise, new-charged with grace,
Earth's tears to dry and all her woes efface!

Christ lives! Christ loves! Christ rules!
Who waits His time shall surely rise.

The triumph of His constancy...
And Faith, replumed for nobler flight,
And Hope, aglow with radiance bright,
And Love, in loveliness bedight,
Shall greet the morning light!

WAR NEEDS STEEL IN DISUSED CAR TRACKS

Editor, Constitution: Since suggesting the idea to you of securing the release of the steel rails found in the pavements of the city of Atlanta and its environs and placing them at the disposal of the government without cost, it has been brought to my attention by others with whom I have discussed this idea that this effort must need be a continuing one until the job be completed.

One of my fellow workers suggested the plan which has been used successfully by religious bodies lacking funds that undertake the erection of a church. Those who are able and willing to give their labor are allowed to do so and those who are unwilling or unable to do so are allowed to give money to hire someone to work in their place. Such a plan suggests itself to me as being ideal for carrying out the idea which I have submitted to you for your consideration.

Pursuing the idea further, it has occurred to me that such an organization could well be called a battalion, and might, if it prove successful here, become nation wide in scope, with Atlanta giving it the impetus and serving as its headquarters and directing influence. Charters could be issued to those cities forming such a battalion and wishing to join in this movement, naming each after some hero of our armed forces that has already paid the supreme sacrifice—such as the Colin P. Kelly Battalion, etc.

It is my further hope that if such an organization be formed that it will be kept free and out of the hands of the politicians. For this reason I hope that the directing head be a retired Army officer already receiving compensation from the government in the form of a pension and who will be willing to give his full time and energy without compensation. C. B. WILSON.

Dorothy Thompson Writes:

An Open Letter to Canadians

By DOROTHY THOMPSON.

I trust that you will not regard it as a presumption if I address you openly in this direct way. As a citizen of the United States I feel very close to you. As your partners in this great world war against aggression and oppression we feel closer to each other than we have ever been.

This closeness which has existed for over a century now—the wonderful closeness symbolized in our miraculous unfortified frontier—the strange luxury of that frontier, silent agreement to stand together and yet leave each other alone—is now made warmer by the solidarity of all America with all of the British commonwealth. Nothing else so good has come out of this war as this moving together of the English-speaking peoples, who, admitting their diversity, and giving courteous recognition to somewhat varying interests, recognize that they have common ideals and common objectives, and a common view of what is a good life.

Disrupt Facts.
We have all, from long and bitter experience, come to distrust facts made by governments, for governments change. But affection between peoples is a tie transcending government. That affection between us is, I hope and pray, the harbinger for a wider affection that may flower between the peoples of the whole world, once this great trial is over. But, whether it does or not, the example of our union with diversity will exercise a powerful attraction in that direction, and the strength of it maintain for the English-speaking world, at least, the serenity and power that comes out of the union of spiritual and material forces.

In this growing complex of the English-speaking peoples, Canada has a unique role. For Canadians are Americans and yet members of the British commonwealth. Canada is the bridge between us from Australia to the British Isles. Canada is the show window of the new order of co-operation.

Can't Understand.
There is but one fact about your part in our common effort that it is difficult for us, in the United States, to understand. That is that you have not yet instituted a system of selective compulsory service for overseas.

All of us know fully the extent of the Canadian war effort, and it fills us with admiration. The Canadian troops have been an ornament to the British forces and a testimony to Canadian hardihood and valor. Yet, your overseas army still remains voluntary, and your youth, unlike ours, can choose whether or not to serve away from home. This disparateness seems to me unfortunate; for I greatly desire to see an absolute community of aim, an absolute community of sacrifice; an absolute community of brotherhood between Canadians and ourselves.

Talmadge Says He Okayed Use Of State Funds

Contents Rivers Probe Affects All Georgia, Move Justified.

Disclosure that Governor Talmadge had transferred $10,000 from his secret emergency fund to defray expenses of the Fulton county grand jury's investigation into the Rivers administration yesterday drew from the Governor a terse statement of substantiation on which he declined to elaborate.

At his downtown Atlanta hotel room, where he was recuperating from two broken ribs which he said he received in a fall, the chief executive dictated the following statement:

"Solicitor (John) Boykin, in an interview with me, raised the point that the investigation of the cases against certain officials affected the whole state.

Agreed With Him.
"I agreed with him. I think it was the duty of the executive department to help defray the expenses.

"I realize it is my duty as an executive to help officials enforce the law regardless of the parties involved.

"I hope the investigation will show by the evidence that none of the parties are guilty.

"I have this same feeling toward the most humble citizen of the state and the highest citizen of Georgia."

Although the Governor named one of his appointees, Linton S. Johnson, assistant attorney general, as the state's agent to handle the fund which was to be used for paying witnesses, typists and other assistants in the investigation, he said he did not know how much of the $10,000 had been spent.

Declines Statement.
Johnson declined to make a statement, pointing out he had been receiving his directions from the Governor and that any comment would have to come from the

Axis Aliens Ordered To Surrender Radios

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Attorney General Biddle today ordered all German, Japanese and Italian nationals in the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to surrender all radio transmitters, shortwave radio receivers and cameras to local police by 11 p. m. January 5.

The order extended a previous one concerning enemy aliens in California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona, whose time limit for turning in the forbidden equipment already has expired.

chief executive. Johnson would not venture an estimate on how much of the money already had been spent.

Indications, however, were that more than half of it had been disbursed since it was turned over to Johnson in two payments of $5,000 each. Johnson received the first check for $5,000 last May and obtained another $5,000 in October, the records showed.

Johnson indicated that at the proper time he would give an accounting to the state auditor as to how all of the funds had been spent.

Richard Leche Is Checked Into Federal Prison

Louisiana Ex-Governor Must Serve 10 Years for Mail Fraud.

Richard W. Leche, former Governor of Louisiana, sentenced to 10 years for mail fraud in 1937-38, was ushered into a cell at the Atlanta penitentiary shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Leche, one of four Louisiana officials serving penitentiary terms for mail fraud, was brought to Atlanta from Alexandria, La., in custody of a United States marshal.

He was convicted of a charge of mail fraud for allegedly accepting $31,000 from $111,370, which the government charged the state lost in purchase of highway trucks while Leche was Governor.

Prompt action, is necessary in replying to the attractive offer in the Want Ad section of The Constitution.

Call in The Game

BY JACK TROY

Odds Revised MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 31.—For no apparent reason odds have fluctuated like an erratic stock market since Georgia and T. C. U. teams arrived to complete their work for tomorrow's annual Orange Bowl game.

Originally Georgia was a 7-5 favorite. Yesterday T. C. U. was a 6-5 choice. Today odds are even. They'll probably remain even.

There has been no change in the personnel of either team. Both are at full strength for tomorrow's meeting. The Georgia team may prove to be the faster, and this is where the game's outcome may be decided.

The Bulldogs have a much more impressive record in running as well as passing. The Texans undoubtedly can advance the ball on the ground, but their season's record reveals most of the scoring has been done by passing.

T. C. U.'s weight advantage in the line may be a disadvantage. The big forwards may be outmaneuvered. Georgia has ample team speed and a well-balanced attack.

If I had to pick a score I'd say Georgia 21, T. C. U. 13. And I'd be inclined to think that Georgia may score one or more touchdowns running, while the Texans will do all their scoring on passes.

Georgia is no sucker team against passes, but the T. C. U. record shows an impressive number of yards and the majority of the season's points gained by the overhead route. Kyle Gillespie is a passer on the order of the former T. C. U. greats, Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien.

Georgia will counter with accurate-throwing Frankie Sinkwich, and will have Jim Todd as an ace in the hole.

"Dream Play" Coach Wallace Butts dreamed of a play during the 1941 season and used it to advantage in the Florida game. Wally dreamed of a pass play with Cliff Kimsey throwing and Sinkwich on the receiving end.

Wally told Bill Hartman about it and it was diagrammed and installed for the Florida game. The first time it was used Sinkwich ran 19 yards and just missed a first down by a yard. Georgia had been set back by penalties, and the play was called on fourth down.

Butts hasn't had any dreams, only nightmares, since Georgia's arrival here. But he thinks Georgia is ready to give a good account against the Texas opponents.

Mentally the team seems to be at a peak and, of course, the squad is in superb physical condition. Georgia's ability to close fast has been most helpful in many games. Let the Bulldogs be on even terms with a team going into the fourth quarter and they'll have the advantage until the final whistle.

Such conditioning pays dividends in tough games.

Likes Bulldogs Kenneth A. (Natty) Campbell, one of the great southern quarterbacks of other days, thinks this is one of the finest Georgia teams in history.

Campbell has followed Georgia in half the games and hails Sinkwich as a worthy All-America. The latter, incidentally, is passing with more accuracy. He completed 26 of the last 42 tosses in regular season and has impressed observers with his marksmanship in jump passing.

Campbell says the only thing that worries him is the reputation of Texas teams. The good ones always are tough to beat. However, Texas Aggies and Fordham beat T. C. U.

Omens Those who believe in omens point out that there are two things in the favor of T. C. U. First, the Horned Frogs have never lost a bowl game, and second, that they are practicing on Miami High field, which never has had a losing bowl team. Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Mississippi State drilled there.

When you've got a Sinkwich to lead the attack, and such able fellows as Lamar Davis, Cliff Kimsey, Red Keuper and others to back it up, omens may not be very important.

There is a lot of incentive for Georgia's first bowl team to go home with a victory. It would climax the greatest Red and Black season of all time.

Varied Defenses It is going to be interesting to see the defenses Coach Dutch Meyer has planned to stop Sinkwich, who hasn't been stopped all season.

Meyer insists he will use "six or seven" defenses until he finds the one that is best.

Thing about Sinkwich is that he might be stopped three or four times in a row and then cut loose on a damaging sprint the next time.

It is even possible to rush him too much on passes. He has a way of eluding the rushers and running for long gains.

Sinkie has done some of his best gaining off tackle, and T. C. U. doesn't think he'll be able to do anything against such tackles as Leonard Pug and Captain Bill Crawford, both weighing around 225 pounds.

This remains to be seen.

Ted Williams Is Voted Tops By Trade Paper

Sporting News Also Honors Southworth, Barrow in Citations.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Edward G. Barrow, Billy Southworth, Ted Williams, Emil G. Sick, Burt Shotton and Johnny Lindell—these were the No. 1 men of 1941 in major and minor league baseball in the opinion of The Sporting News.

The baseball weekly, announcing its annual citations to the leading executives, managers and players, chose:

Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, for his accomplishment in rebuilding the team, third in 1940, into a pennant-winner and world champion, "a task that called for unusual ingenuity, courage of conviction and sound judgment."

Southworth, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, for his feat in directing a badly crippled team to a runner-up spot in a tight battle with the Brooklyn Dodgers for the National League pennant.

Williams, outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, by a close margin over Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees, for his remarkable batting performances in attaining a season's average of .408.

Sick, president of Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, for building three consecutive pennant-winners.

Shotton, manager of Columbus, for winning the American Association pennant and playoffs and the Little World Series with Montreal.

Lindell, pitcher with Newark of the International League, for winning 26 games and losing only four, having a string of 13 consecutive victories and batting .298 in 51 games.

Tulsa and Tech Wind Up Drills In a Sandstorm

Complete Practice for Sun Bowl; Morgan Is Confident of Win.

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Buffeted by winds which blanketed El Paso in old-fashioned southwestern sandstorms, Texas Tech and Tulsa University ran through final practice sessions before their Sun Bowl clash tomorrow.

The Red Raiders from Lubbock and the Missouri Valley Conference champions from Tulsa completed sand from their hair in the late season blow.

The Tulsa contingent blew into town with the dust in mid-afternoon, five hours later on their train ride from Oklahoma, and with a minor casualty. Halfback Lynn Dobbs suffered from overeating on the delayed trip.

"Dobbs will be okay for the game, and everyone is in good shape," said Coach Henry Franke. The Raiders, who arrived by bus late yesterday, were pronounced in good condition by Coach Dell Morgan.

Morgan, who earlier gloomed up a Tulsa victory, reversed himself today and said he expected Tech to win by a touchdown and break the jinx which has brought defeat to every border conference host team in the Sun Bowl since its inception.

On game time tomorrow may depend upon the weather. The fast Tech eleven which passes for touchdowns at any spot on the field, might be seriously handicapped by unfavorable conditions. This, however, should not affect the Tulsa power machine.

Tech held the betting edge locally, and generally it was 6 to 5 with an eye to the weather.

Big Party Honors Alsab on Birthday

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 31.—(AP)—All thoroughbreds have a birthday on January 1, but it will be a special occasion for Alsab, juvenile race horse of the year.

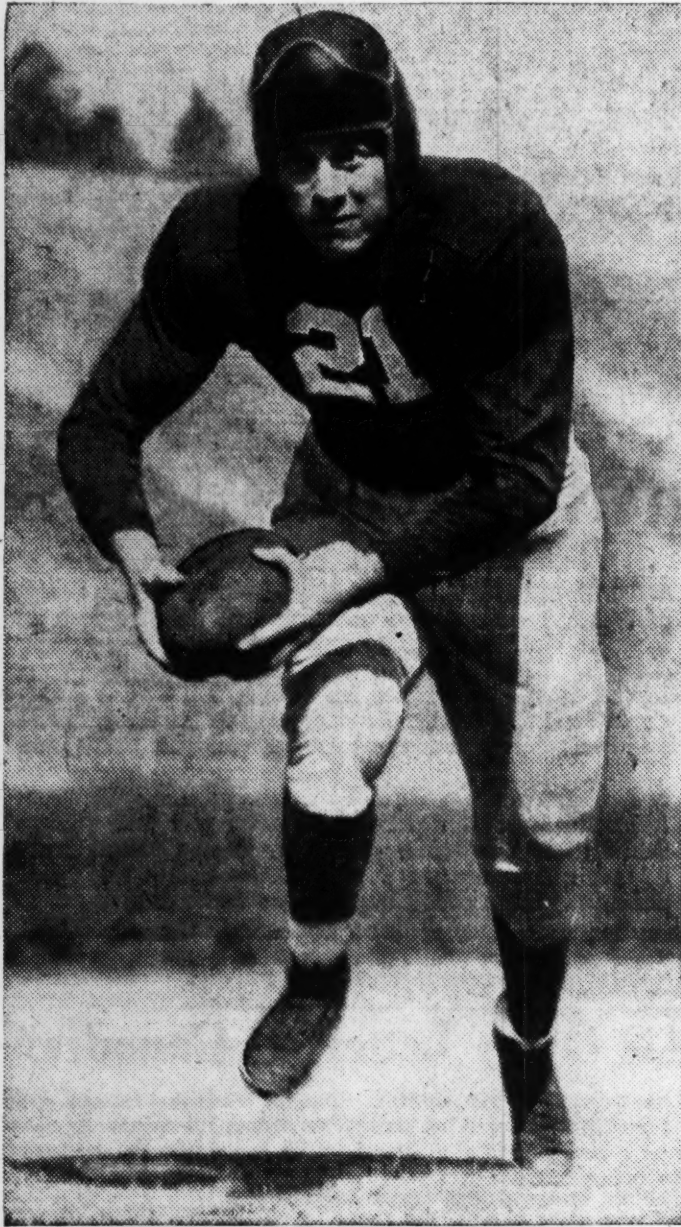

Mr. and Mrs. A. Sabath, of Chicago, his owners, have arranged a birthday party, including a cake with three candles and a supply of the things Alsab likes best—carrots, grapefruit and oranges.

As a 2-year-old, Alsab started 22 times, had 15 firsts, three seconds and a third, winning $110,610 for the year's championship at the age.

East Lake Holds Holiday Events

A dogfight and bogey are special events planned today at East Lake. Other courses also are arranging competitions for the holiday.

WOODY RICH SOLD. BOSTON, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox announced the outright sale today of Woodrow Rich, right-handed pitcher, to the Indianapolis club of the American Association. Rich was acquired from Little Rock in September, 1938.

WHAT NOW, FRANKIE?—The eyes of the sports world will be turned southward today to the bowl games, and one of the main attractions will be Georgia's battle with Texas Christian in Miami's Orange Bowl. What will Frankie Sinkwich, the All-America back from Georgia, do? That's the question Georgians are asking. The answer seems obvious, but we'll have to wait and see.

200,000 Fans Will See Dixie Bowl Games Today

Rice Rates Duke, Georgia and Fordham as Favorites, Says Alabama Battle Is a Tossup.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31.—Tomorrow is Bowl Day along a southern front extending from Dallas to Miami, via New Orleans and Durham. More than 200,000 spectators have already booked passage to bowl seats where eight of the big-time college teams will give football a running start for the new year.

The Sugar Bowl here, where Fordham and Missouri meet, will head the attendance side at 73,000. Durham, the new home of the Rose Bowl, featuring Duke and Oregon State, will play to a capacity of 56,000.

Dallas, with the Cotton Bowl, bringing Alabama against Texas A. and M., will be crowding the 50,000 mark. And Georgia and Texas Christian bring 35,000 to the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Duke, Georgia and Fordham are the three favored entries with Alabama and the Texas Aggies rated neck and neck or nose and nose. Duke is the top favorite with Georgia next. Both apparently have more offensive strength than their two rivals, with Steve Lach and Frank Sinkwich well up among the star backs of the year.

AT NEW ORLEANS. The meeting between Fordham and Missouri in this famous sporting city should be one of the best games of a dizzy season. It is seldom that a big crowd gets to see so many brilliant backs in action as the Sugar Bowl has on hand for its annual contest. It's a dead-end game, but the combination backfield has more speed to offer the populace gathered together.

Missouri backers are certain the Columbia Tigers can hold their own along Louisiana turf. They offer Steuber, Wade and Ice against Blumenstock, Filipowicz, Andrejco and others, but it is still a question as to whether Missouri can hold off Fordham's better passing.

It would be no surprise to see Filipowicz the winning factor. He is one of the best of the passers now around and he has at least three able receivers who can handle this important end of the air attack.

Missouri has a good chance to pick up more yards over the ground than Fordham can equal. These Missouri backs can move at high speed and they know how to drive. But in any close game air supremacy is nearly always the winning factor, and unless Don Faurot can take the cover off a first-class passer his team will face a heavy handicap.

THE TRANSPLANTED ROSE. There is keen interest all over the south—as well as the far west—in the transplanted Rose Bowl game, shifted from Pasadena to Durham.

No one doubts that Durham will go all out in making this transfer stand up—not in the way of any 90,000 attendance, but in other details that Pasadena can't quite match. Rose Bowls are old stories to Pasadena. This game will be a much bigger thrill in its new North Carolina setting, apart from the game itself.

Oregon State will make a desperate effort to lift the rather shaky fortunes of the west coast, which took a hard beating this last fall along intersectional lines, but Lon Stiner's rugged cast happens to be up against one of the best attacks in football, which is bound

Zuppke Wants Football Job, He Says Flatly

Matty Bell, of S. M. U., Named Head of Coaches' Association.

By WATSON SPOELSTRA. DETROIT, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Fighting Bob Zuppke made it known definitely today that he is in the market for a football job, either as administrator or coach, even though he has been placed on the University of Illinois pension list.

The 63-year-old Zuppke made his pronouncement at an American Football Coaches Association luncheon presumably to signal the retirement of two colorful gridiron figures—Fielding H. (Hurricane) Yost of Michigan and Zuppke himself. The little Dutchman had other ideas.

"I want to stay in the game in some capacity," said Zuppke flatly. Later he said he would return to his 300-acre stock farm near Champaign, Ill., to await developments. For the present, he added, there was no job in sight and he had applied for none. He also declared he had not yet learned full details of his $4,000 annual pension from Illinois, where he resigned his post this fall after a 28-year career.

Compulsory Exercise. The final day of the fourfold athletic conference brought the following developments:

(1) The National Collegiate Athletic Association, along with the Coaches' Association and College Physical Education Association, sent a recommendation to the Association of American College Presidents, which convenes at Baltimore Friday, for the establishment of at least three hours a week compulsory physical education for the nation's students in the war crisis.

(2) Matty Bell, of Southern Methodist, was installed as president of the coaches, becoming the first southerner to hold the job since the late Dan McGugin, of Vanderbilt, in 1932. Dick Harlow, of Harvard, moved up in line for the job in 1943.

(3) New York was selected as the site for the 1942 sessions although there was some agitation among the coaches to convene apart from the N. C. A. A. at the site of a bowl game.

(4) The coaches voted to foster a movement to effect a consolidation of high school and college gridiron rules. The coaches also extended free association membership to those of their profession in the nation's armed forces.

Other vice presidents advanced by the coaches are Ray Morrison, of Temple, and E. E. (Tad) Wicman, of Princeton. Herb Kopf, of Manhattan, and Tex Oliver, of Oregon, were named aides of the holdover trustees—James Phelan, formerly of Washington, and Harvey Harman, of Rutgers.

What! No Team! How About Baby?

DELAND, Fla., Dec. 31.—Harris Lowery Jr., former star halfback and later tennis coach at Stetson University, has a tough problem on his mind these days.

The onetime speedy, nascent, chunking ace became the proud papa of Harris Lowery III just before Christmas, and like all fathers he wants his youngster to follow in his dad's footsteps.

But what worries Harris, who is now practicing law in Stuart, Fla., is that Stetson has no football eleven any more, so how can the newcomer gallop to touchdowns?

Friends are soothing Harris with the thought that perhaps Stetson will have another team by 1940, and that Harris won't have to stick to tennis after all.

Vol Five Rallies, Trims Long Island

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31.—(AP) The University of Tennessee's basketball team upset Long Island University, 38 to 32, in the annual Sugar Bowl game Tuesday night and ended the Easterners' victory streak at 23 games.

Long Island, national intercollegiate champions, led 24 to 16 at the half, but wilted under a great second-half spurge by Tennessee.

Southeastern Conference titleholders. George looks to have more all-around strength—backfield and line—than Texas Christian can show. Georgia will be closer to full strength than the Bulldogs from Athens have been all year. Sinkwich is a star, but not the only star Georgia has ready. Dutch Meyer and T. C. U. will see more than two fast-moving Georgia backs, while Georgia in turn will be annoyed more than once by a young fellow named Kyle Gillespie.

Texas and the Southwestern Conference are planting their main hope on Texas A. and M. Both the Aggies and Alabama are high-class football people, and scrappy draw would be no great surprise.

Whatever happens later on, the New Year of 1942 at least gets under way with an old-time football swing. The "tumult and the shouting" are not yet.

JTC Takes Title As Augusta Bows

JTC defeated Augusta, 42 to 32, in the finals to win the Southern Region AFA basketball tournament held at the Jewish Educational Alliance.

Augusta jumped into the lead at the start of the game and led at half-time 19-15. In the third quarter Harold Mizell, Hank Levinson and Abe Roussell started to sink baskets from all corners of the floor, and went into a lead that Augusta was never able to overcome. Bennie Boglia, of Augusta, was high-point scorer of the game with 14 points, while JTC was led by Levinson with 12 points and Harold Mizell with 11 points.

Teams Are in Top Shape For Orange Bowl Scrap

Duel Between Sinkwich and Gillespie Will Be Feature; Aerial Attacks Primed for Colorful Miami Contest Before 35,000.

By JACK TROY. Constitution Sports Editor.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 31.—Georgia, playing the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University in the Bulldogs' first bowl game, is ready to make a supreme effort for victory in Miami's eighth annual Orange Bowl attraction on New Year's Day.

The opening kickoff will go sailing down field at 2 o'clock as more than 35,000 fans settle back for what promises to be one of the most colorful bowl attractions ever played.

Georgia has prepared the usual running and passing attack, with Fireball Frankie Sinkwich in the leading role. T. C. U., with a great reputation for passing, has Kyle Gillespie in top shape to do the pitching.

READY AS CAN BE. Coach Wallace Butts has declared the Bulldogs to be as ready as they'll ever be. Today's final drill found the players in top shape, mentally and physically, and ready to give an all-out performance against their Texas opponents.

T. C. U. likewise was in fine form and prepared to put up stubborn resistance in defending an unsmirched Bowl record. This is Coach Dutch Meyer's third Bowl team. On the season's record, Georgia is out in front with a loss and a tie. T. C. U. lost two games and tied one, but beat mighty Texas.

T. C. U. beat Texas in almost the same manner as Georgia bumped off Auburn. The winning pass came in the last eight seconds of play, averting a Georgia best Auburn on the last play of the game. The whistle blew as the ball was in the air from Sinkwich to fleet Lamar Davis.

Georgia started as the favorite for the Orange Bowl game, but the odds shifted to even today. And it is expected that the same situation will exist at game time.

T. C. U. HEAVY. T. C. U. holds a weight advantage of 10 pounds to the man in the line, but Georgia may prove to be the faster team. Superior weight could be a handicap.

Each Meyer has planned a series of defenses to stop Sinkwich. T. C. U. hopes to be the first to bottle up the Georgia All-America.

On offense the Christians have done their best gaining and scoring with the use of passes, but the running game is not bad. Gillespie is the team's spark plug.

From all available reports it is indicated that it will be a clear, warm day for the game tomorrow. There is no threat of rain.

As usual Georgia will advance the ball as far as possible running and then take to the air. Jim Todd will back up Frank Sinkwich in the passing, while receivers will include Speed King Davis, George Poschner, Cliff Kimsey and Duck Conger.

NO ALIBIS. The only way the Bulldogs could be any better off for the game would be for Dick McPhee to be available for action, but Red Keuper has been given the job of replacing him. Georgia will have no alibi if T. C. U. wins, Coach Butts declared.

Superior speed and a more balanced attack may prove to be deciding factors in Georgia's bid for a bowl victory.

Poor Duck Season Closes in State

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 31.—(AP) The curtain was rung down today on another duck hunting season—a season of meagerness which hunters attributed to warm weather in the north and a drought in the south.

Lack of cold weather to flush migratory waterfowl from their Canadian haunts this winter, said State Wildlife Director Zack Cravey, game hunters one of the scariest crops in years.

Appearances of a cool and geese have been spotty throughout the state, although national authorities said the population was above average.

Cravey urged landowners with bodies of water on their property to "look ahead to next season and plant food which will attract and hold ducks and geese in Georgia."

Deer may be hunted legally until January 11, while quail and turkey are legal game until March 1.

Western All-Stars Hold Dummy Drill

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Driven indoors twice by heavy downpours this afternoon, the Western All-Stars went through a dummy drill, practicing various defense formations to be used against the Eastern team in the Shrine charity classic in New Orleans Saturday.

Eso Naranche, Montana State University blocking back, whose face was injured in Saturday's scrimmage, will play Saturday in a special mask. Also hurt Saturday was Jack Jacobs, Oklahoma Indian, who suffered a cut on his left hand.

The squad will go through a "dawn workout" early tomorrow, then go by special bus to New Orleans to see the Sugar Bowl game, returning here tomorrow night. Final practice will be held on Friday.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 31.—(AP)—The University of Georgia football players will bid one of their fellow members goodbye shortly after the Orange Bowl game here tomorrow against T. C. U.

Wyatt Posey, veteran tackle, will join the U. S. Coast Guard after the game. He is a native of Headland, Ala., and concluded his college work at the quarter session just closing.

Joe Manzo, former Boston College grid star, played 22 games this fall—10 for Camp Croft (S. C.) and 12 for a Roanoke (Va.) pro team.

Record Crowd For East-West Game Planned

New Orleans Bearing Down on Sellout of Big Stadium.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31.—(P)—New Orleans with its dense population of football fanatics has rolled up its civic shirt sleeves to attack wholeheartedly the task of outdoing San Francisco in making a success of the coast city's annual East-West All Star football game for the benefit of crippled children.

The latest step in the campaign to stage a major game and fill a 73,000-seat stadium on three weeks' notice was an official proclamation today by Mayor Robert S. Maestri, declaring a half-holiday Saturday so workers could attend.

Every hope is held of passing the attendance record of 60,000 for the 16-year-old spectacle that has poured a total of $600,000 into the Shriner's Crippled Children's hospital of San Antonio. Regular season attendance of 50,000 for college games and 25,000 to 40,000 for high school games have become almost commonplace here in the swift rise of football interest in the past decade.

Members of the Sugar Bowl organization have all taken on their corresponding assignments to work on the Shrine game. The member in charge of concessions for the Sugar Bowl game Thursday, for instance, is arranging for the concessions Saturday, from which all proceeds will go to the hospitals.

Allergic Winner In Orleans Race

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31.—(P)—John Draper Erwin's Allergic beat out N. J. Mitchell's Maurice K by a length today to win the early lead, the latter surviving the early pace and coming into the stretch on top. But Allergic, circling his field, closed in when straightened out and caught Maurice K, which was still threatening at the finish.

Allergic paid $20.40 for $2. Several outsiders won during the afternoon. Mrs. B. Miller's Fenway paying $66.20 for $2 in the opener.

Paul Glidewell, one of the most promising apprentice riders here, was thrown when the colt Ring Up ran away with him in the second race. He suffered a badly bruised leg.

Women Play Golf For The Red Cross

The Druid Hills Women's Golf Association will hold a flag tournament Friday, with all proceeds to go to the Red Cross.

Fulton Sets Back Commercial Quint

Fulton High defeated Commercial, 37 to 33, last night. Brooks and Adams each scored 12 points for the winners.

HOT STOVE WARMUP

Although Don Barnes denies the story that the Browns asked for $100,000 from the American league, the Sporting News quotes a club official as saying the owners have poured in nearly a half million bucks in five years and feel that it's time for the league to do something.

C. A. Paul, Charlotte (N. C.) News: "The Coast powers-that-be may regret moving the Rose Bowl game to North Carolina. ## GATORS BATTERED.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31.—(P)—Southwestern Louisiana Institute boxers outpunched the University of Florida in the Sugar Bowl matches here the other night, winning by a score of 6½ to 1½ in eight three-round bouts before 3,500 fans. The only Florida winner was Johnny Joca, national intercollegiate 135-pound titleholder.

Buddy Lewis, ex-Washington third sacker, has been made a squad leader at the Armed Force Replacement Center, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Missouri, Fordham Meet In Game Rated Toss-Up

73,000 To Jam Sugar Bowl for Struggle; Tepo, Who Attended Georgia Practice, To Get Big Chance.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY, Assistant Sports Editor.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 31.—They went on their annual spree here tonight, welcoming in the New Year and anxiously waiting the kickoff of the thrill-promising Sugar Bowl game tomorrow between Fordham and Missouri.

With 73,000 fans ready to pack the huge stadium, the Ram and Tiger football players took their last light workouts this afternoon and then tried to get away from it all as much as possible as New Orleans isn't exactly the best place in the world to train a team on New Year's Eve.

Coaches Jim Crowley, of Fordham, and Don Faurot, of Missouri, pronounced their squads in good condition for the contest and will have no alibi.

There are a couple of minor ailments. Fordham's star end, Jim Lansing, has a slightly hurt shoulder, and Missouri's speedy right halfback, Bob Steuber, is suffering from a bad cold. Lansing's injury means that George Tepo, the big sophomore who attended a Georgia spring practice, probably will see more action than ever before this season. He is regarded as a real prospect and has been coming along fast.

The betting on the game is just about even. You can wager six bucks to five and take your choice. Or you can give a point and get even money. That's as close as games ever get with the bookies. Gamblers report that most of the early betting favored the Rams, but the flood of Tiger dough started to roll as more Missouri fans hit town.

RAIN MAY AID TIGERS. It was cloudy here today and rain may mar the activities. A wet field probably would send the odds on a Missouri victory soaring, as the Tigers are considered a better running team than the Rams, who depend a lot on passing to gain ground.

Missouri, with Steuber, Wade and Lee leading the way, scored most of its touchdowns with land campaigns while Fordham looks to the passing of stocky Flip Filipowicz for its offensive spark. In fact, Missouri has completed only 15 passes this season.

Two players who made numerous All-Americans will be in action against each other. Missouri's Darold Jenkins is considered the best center in the country by many experts, while Lansing was honored on many all-star picks as an end.

Lansing is Crowley's star receiver and if he is unable to play very much, the Ram passing attack will suffer.

New Orleans is jammed with fans for the game. Hotel rooms are selling at a premium and most of the folks plan to stay over until Saturday to see the East-West All-Star game.

Rain or Snow Expected For Tide-Aggie Contest

Odds Remain 5 to 6 and Take Your Choice in Cotton Bowl; Field Kept Dry During Drizzle.

By THAD HOLT, Staff Correspondent.

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 31.—Betting favorite for tomorrow's sixth inaugural of the Cotton Bowl classic involving the Crimson Tide of Alabama and the Southwestern champions from Texas A. & M. still was as uncertain as the weather on the eve of the game, but observers flatly predicted this would be the greatest thriller of the Dallas series.

It was 5 to 6 and take your choice after the teams finished their training with light, brisk workouts this afternoon.

Even the strong probability of rain or snow failed to establish either the passing masters of the southwest or the powerhouse from Tuscaloosa as choices to win, supporting the theory that the public possesses rare confidence in the ability of Homer Norton's crowd to handle a slippery pigskin and in the prowess of the Red Elephants on treacherous turf.

OUTLOOK DAMP. A steady drizzle last night and today promised to continue into the night, but since the government forbids weather forecasts being released too far in advance, the outlook for tomorrow is questionable. There is a definite threat of snow or sleet, but, come what may, the Tide and Aggies promise a wide open, hell-for-leather ball game.

The attendance may not surpass 42,000, slightly less than 3,000 short of a sellout, should the weather continue unfavorable. Alabama's share of the receipts will be at least $53,000, more than $10,000 ever received for appearing in this fast-growing Texas attraction.

As expected, neither Thomas nor Norton would express his true feelings about the game and predict a winner, although each probably has his hunch. Norton predicted that his team, since it relies heavily on an air attack, either would win or lose by several touchdowns. Thomas thought his team was at a physical and mental peak and saw a good chance for a superior performance.

"Whether that will be good enough to win will not be known until after the final gun," he said.

TARPAULIN COVERS FIELD. A tarpaulin covers the field and will not be removed until just before game time, affording the teams dry footing at least at the beginning.

Starting time will be 2:15, Atlanta time. Alabama's starting line will average 208 pounds and the backfield 181. Texas Aggie forwards average 200 and the backs 186. The game brings together two giants of the gridiron, keyed for "all-out" performances. Stars of both schools will be playing their last games, including Jimmy Nelson, Holt Rask, John Wynn and Noah Langda of Alabama, and Dérace Moser, Aggie sparkplug, and Jim Sterling, great defensive end. The sophomores and juniors on each squad also are fully conscious of the fact that this may be their last football game for a long time, because of a little nut with a mustache.

No team from the state of Alabama ever has beaten a team from Texas, but Alabama and Auburn have won the Cotton Bowl twice. The state eleven in some eight or nine contests. Alabama, however, always has been a "money" club and a great bowl competitor. This likewise holds true for the Texas Aggies who have won Sugar and Cotton Bowl games in the past two years.

FEW INJURIES. Neither team will be seriously handicapped by injuries. Bill (Jitterbug) Henderson, A. and M.'s brilliant pass snatcher, is lame of back, but will play. Paul Spencer, veteran Alabama fullback, is not ready for more than a few minutes' action. Don Sails will carry the fullback load. He can go 60 minutes if necessary.

Moser, and Leo Daniels, his sophomore understudy, offer a real problem for the Tide past defense. The Aggies toss 40 and 50 passes per game. They completed 126 out of 267 attempted during the season. They throw the ball all over the lot and run just often enough to keep the defense guessing.

Alabama, if she plays up to past records, won't lose this game. The Tide is seldom beaten when cast in the role of underdog or even choice. Jimmy Nelson surely will show these cocky hospitable Texans a thing or two about running, passing and kicking a football.

"Bama's million-dollar band came in today and other Tide supporters are drifting in, including two Bessemer (Ala.) High school lads who hitch-hiked here to root for the Crimson and White."

SOME SOUVENIR. MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 31.—(P)—The Blue and Gray football game's fame is spreading, no doubt about that.

In today's mail the Blue and Gray Association received a letter mailed just four days ago from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii—asking for a souvenir program.

It came from Jim Keys, of the Navy, whose quarter was returned, along with a program, and a proposal by Blue-Gray General Manager Champ Pickens to pay all expenses if Keys will send him a souvenir—a Jap's car.

McCullum has been an assistant coach at Auburn since he was graduated from the school of 1934.

Duke, 3-to-1 Favorite, Faces Confident Oregon

Devils Rated 13 Points Better, But Beavers Plan To Make More Than Just a Personal Appearance for 56,000 Fans.

By JOHN MARTIN, Staff Correspondent.

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 31.—The Blue Devils of Duke and the Beavers of Oregon State will mix in the Rose Bowl classic here tomorrow before the largest crowd in North Carolina history—over 56,000 partisans who will be shoe-horned into bulging Duke stadium.

Wallace Wade's Devils are heavily favored to do a holiday dance around the prostrate Beavers from the Pacific coast, with experts perhaps paying too much respect to the undefeated, untied record of the home side as compared to two losses for the Beavers.

The fanatical fans of Durham reportedly were offering 3-to-1 odds that Duke would make pelt of the Beavers. However, the alleged backers were hard to find. The point betting gave the Beavers 13.

BEAVERS LOOK HEALTHY. To persons who saw Duke have a hard day against Georgia Tech it would appear that such lopsided odds could be inspired only by fiendish worship of the Duke.

One look at the Beavers is enough to convince even the casual observer that they might easily take care of themselves—even on New Year's Day.

If there had been any doubt in these parts that Duke would win it was removed yesterday when George McAfee portrayed Mr. Don Durdan, the portside passer-punter and both-sides runner in a scrimmage. McAfee, a former Devil great and now a Chicago Bear ace, worked from the wrong side and although he did some damage to the Duke's defense, such success was attributed to his superiority over Durdan.

So with Durdan taken care of, the Devils are ready to proceed with the methodical annihilation.

STINER CONFIDENT. Coach Lon Stiner still contended that his coast champions would do more than make an appearance on the field. He and his players—all 31 of them—were ready and confident that Duke is on the verge of a rude upset. Stiner's squad will be in perfect condition and he plans to use every man on the trip.

The Dukes and Beavers wound up preparations today, the home-coming working in Durham and State drilling at near-by Chapel Hill. Moffat Storer, reserve wing-back, was Duke's only ailing member. He will be in uniform, though, and likely will be pressed into service despite a trick knee.

The Duke's Stiner long since has hung out the S. R. O. sign, and Durham now is in the same jam. This hitherto hospitable to bacco city asks you to stay away, please. Everything is sold out.

Unless you have a hotel reservation it means a beg into the calaboose or a snatch of shut-eye in the railroad station.

The teams will split a big melon of about $75,000 for each representative.

Hurricane Line To Be Heavily Outweighed

10,000 Expected for Kiwanis-Sponsored Tiff at Poncey.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

Atlanta will christen the New Year with the Milk of Human Kindness today when Coach Shorty Doyal's Boys High eleven, one of the greatest prep teams in the city's annals and Georgia state champions for three straight years, and Lee Edwards High, of Asheville, unbeaten kingpin of the Carolinas, clash in the first annual Milk Bowl game at 2:30 o'clock at Ponce de Leon park.

With clear, crisp weather in prospect, a crowd of 10,000 or more is expected for the city's first bowl game, which is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club to purchase milk for underprivileged children here.

No stone is being left unturned to bring out a large gathering. A sound truck has been installed in the park, and scores in the four big bowl games over the country will be announced when they are made. So it will be unnecessary for anyone to stay at home to hear of his favorite team in action.

TAKE FINAL BOW. The game, in which 24 members of the Purple Hurricane will be singing their swan songs to prep grid competition, will feature two of the finest eleven in the southland. The invaders boast a record of 11 wins without a defeat this year, and the homeboys, who have dropped only one contest in 35 played in the past three seasons, face their 13th and last barrier with 10 victories and two ties during 1941.

Coach Ralph James yesterday brought in a squad of 39 players, which was accompanied by a 85-piece band and close to 2,000 rooters from Tarheelia. The Carolina Maroons went immediately to Ponce de Leon park for their final workout.

These lads from the Appalachian mountains boast an enviable record. In their 11 outings they have racked up 349 points to 32 for the opposition. The high-scoring home towners have made a shambles of Georgia opposition by ripping up 465 points, compared to 20 for the opponents.

A HEAVY LINE. The Tarheel outfit, boasting a line averaging 189 pounds and a backfield corps with a 164-pound average, will outweigh the Purples 25 pounds and nine pounds per player. The invaders boast a record of 11 wins without a defeat this year, and the homeboys, who have dropped only one contest in 35 played in the past three seasons, face their 13th and last barrier with 10 victories and two ties during 1941.

CITY Basketball. Central Cafe's goal-bagging quintet captured the first half championship of the fast Washington City League by tripping previously unbeaten General Shoe, 71 to 47, Tuesday night at Warren Sports Arena before approximately 400 enthusiastic fans.

Central, led by the talented Tuffy Griffiths, Bill Cartwright, Doyle Butler and Jack Teagle, was off in the van wagon shortly after the opening tipoff and was never headed. Griffiths was high scorer with 19 points. Cartwright tagged the netting for 16 while Butler and Teagle tallied 14 each.

Everett Cowan, B. Rainey and Mercer Harris stood out for General Shoe with 15, 12 and 10 points respectively. The victory was Central's seventh straight in league play and stamps them as tops among local amateur quintets.

In the other games, Georgia Power whipped Royal Crown, 49 to 36; Dixie Steel downed Gasco, 49 to 29, and Jonesboro triumphed over Four Square, 53 to 34.

Fred Bradford, Georgia Power forward, was high individual scorer of the night with 25 points. Dixie Steel looked like the team to beat in the second half when it slipped by Harry Cooper's Gasco boys in easy style. Jim Kelley and Walter Hayman, a pair of newcomers, looked pretty good for the Steelmen. Crain and Taylor were the leading scorers. Billy McDavid was the leader in Jonesboro's triumph, with 16 points.

Hood and Johnson were the stars for Royal Crown.

Women Must Help Build Better America

The work women have to do in contributing to our national progress is as important to the future of America as our military and industrial rearmament program, according to James Madison Wood, president of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo.

Speaking at the third annual Westchester Forum, Mr. Wood said that the defense emergency offers an inspiring challenge to all women. It is the opening to a future where women will take an equal part with men in the job of building a better America.

Failure to meet the challenge, he pointed out, "will impair women's place in tomorrow's world."

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

Linda Leaves Work Early To Meet Kyle

INSTALLMENT I.

It was three minutes until 5 o'clock, and in the reception offices of Harcourt, Simmons & Hanover, architects, pandemonium reigned.

Lost in the confusion of letters, envelopes and file baskets that littered her desk, Linda Phillips glanced briefly at her wrist watch and made a wry face.

"It's nearly 5!" she wailed, turning to the middle-aged woman at the next desk, "and Mr. Harcourt hasn't signed his letters, and Kyle will be waiting for me downstairs, and maybe he'll get a traffic ticket, and—"

She paused for breath, staring thoughtfully at her co-worker.

"Jane—," she began uncertainly. The other woman smiled, knowing what the request would be. Despite her austere manner, Jane Miller had a warm spot in her heart for Linda, and it was hard to refuse aid to Harcourt's little secretary.

"Run along and meet your sweetheart," she said smiling. "I'll get your letters in the mail and straighten your desk."

"Really?" The girl's face brightened happily. "I'll take you to lunch tomorrow for being such an angel."

Gathering up hat and purse, Linda blew an airy kiss to the other woman, and dashed through the door. Jane Miller watched as the slim figure disappeared down the corridor, thinking wistfully that her own youth had been drab and dull. There had been no young men waiting to drive her home after a busy day. No sparkling engagement ring had circled her finger.

Jane felt sudden nostalgia at her loss. On a sudden impulse she ran to the window to catch a final glimpse of Linda and her sweetheart. "How happy she must be," Jane thought. "She has everything she can want, and I have nothing."

Then, "You're nothing but a romantic old maid, Jane Miller," she reproached herself, but she experienced a sudden thrill for Linda's happiness.

In the meantime, Linda Phillips left the office building and approached a small, battered coupe parked at the curb. Smiling expectantly, she crossed the sidewalk to say:

"Going my way, mister?"

Kyle Norman nodded shortly, opening the car door to admit her. "You're a few minutes late tonight."

"Oh, I'm sorry, Kyle. Jane said she would finish my work so I could hurry." She settled down beside him as the car pulled away from the curb and into the stream of home-moving traffic. An October haze had fallen over the small city of Prairieville, and smoke from the factories for which this middle-western village was famous filled the air. Still the fall breeze was fresh in Linda's face after the stuffy, overheated office. She had opened the window, allowing the wind to caress her face and ruffle her shining, copper curls.

Watching the familiar scenery as Kyle drove toward her home, Linda murmured dreamily, "What a grand day this has been. The weather should be perfect for Sally's trip to Chicago."

It was said casually, but Kyle Norman scowled. To him this was no new subject.

"Are you going through that again?"

Linda smiled a trifle wistfully. "I'm afraid it's too late now for wistful thinking, but—," she paused, opening her purse to reveal a folded letter.

"I heard from Diane Frazier today. She invited Sally and me to stay with her."

"Diane Frazier?"

"She once lived here," Linda explained. "Her parents were killed in an automobile accident when she was a child, and then she lived with an aunt in Prairieville until she was 18. She's been back a few times to visit Sally."

Sally Barnes was Linda's best friend.

Kyle frowned. "You'll refuse the invitation, of course."

Linda smiled faintly. "There's no use in writing. Diane knows better than to expect me."

"I should think so," Kyle said firmly. "Of course I realize you'd like to attend your cousin's wedding, but after all, you hardly know her. She would be almost like a stranger to you now."

"It wasn't so rough the thought of attending Betty's wedding as it was the opportunity of going to Chicago for a weekend," Linda answered. "It meant a chance to get away for a little while. I'm so tired of working . . . working . . . working."

The man moved uneasily. Unconsciously they had reopened an old subject. Always before Linda had been sweet and trusting, eagerly adopting Kyle's plans and dreams for her own. But of late there had been a difference in her manner, as though she was tiring of her job, her home—even of Kyle, her fiancé.

In order to put an end to the discussion once and for all, the man said slyly:

"Of course, if a weekend in Chicago means more to you than our wedding next June, I suppose it could be postponed again—"

"Of course not, darling," she murmured, moving closer to him. At her gentle acquiescence, the man's jaw relaxed. Unconsciously he smiled a little.

The late-afternoon sunshine caught the bright sparkle of her engagement ring, and Linda twisted it nervously.

"But just the same, I can't help feeling there's more to living than settling down in Prairieville. I want excitement and thrills. I want to meet brilliant people; attend operas; see first nights."

Kyle grinned, his good humor completely restored. "I can't offer you any operas or first nights, but there's a new moving picture in town tonight. Will that do?"

There was a moment of silence; then Linda broke into laughter at this rude awakening from her dreams. "All right, Kyle," she grinned. "I guess, after all, this is my future, and my place is with you."

Arranging her hair before dinner, Linda stared soberly at her reflection in the mirror. As a child it had been her dream that some morning she would awaken—changed. Instead of plain Linda, she imagined, would be a new and exotic woman-of-the-world; a glamorous, breath-taking personality who by a mere flicker of her lashes would capture the heart of every male in Prairieville.

Instead, Linda was a small, slim girl with wide amber eyes in a fragile heart-shaped face, and shining, copper-colored hair neatly arranged. The girl was not beautiful, but there was something haunting in her wistful face, and a definite charm in her manner. Staring at herself, Linda again experienced a familiar feeling that was like defeat. Again she thought, "Why am I so plain?"

Then Kyle appeared suddenly behind her, and Linda turned to smile up at him, trusting, not knowing how the smile transformed her face into beauty.

Dinner was a commonplace meal with the Phillips family. There were no servants, no sparkling glassware and damask, such as Linda longed to possess. Instead, in a small, cheerful dining room, gathered John Phillips, middle-aged and graying, his equally fading wife, Mary, and their daughter. Here, too, sat Kyle Norman, intent upon his plate, and with brown eyes inscrutable behind his spectacles.

The conversation, which had been none too inspiring at the start, floundered and died. John Phillips, who for 30 years has been sole proprietor of an inconspicuous grocery store, racked his brain for a suitable topic, and then gave up the attempt.

It was then that Linda's mother brought forth the query which was to prove a veritable bombshell in the Phillips household.

"Did you have a very hard day, dear?"

"Not very," Linda glanced up. "Mr. Harcourt was a little on the crusty side."

This, too, was a familiar subject, and Kyle suddenly waved his fork in threatening fashion. "Harcourt again, huh?" he exploded. "Why don't you demand a little consideration from him?"

Linda's composure was unmoved. "After all, he is my boss," she said serenely. "And besides, I like him."

Last week we said that peace on earth depended on how far you tunneled into it.

However, we wish you a Happy New Year, subject to evaporation in transit. We are in for a war as certain as a shaking on a motorcycle.

But America is a fighting nation and as soon as we get over our ideas of sportsmanship we will go places like a fellow with a life pass on a railroad.

You can't trust those Axis fellows any further than you can spit into the wind.

Your Horoscope for Today

By Jimmy Hatlo

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—Instead of others working with you today, the tendency is likely to be that others will take the opposite viewpoint from your own. Discussions may easily arise. Unimportant work or routine matters will bring greater satisfaction. Be especially careful in writing, travel, and property interests.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—It will not be easy to "stay put" today. You will be restless and want to do something about it, whether it is in a mental way, or in bodily activity. Be conservative and avoid vague plans.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—The influence noted for yesterday remains in effect until approximately 8 a. m. Previous to this hour, be cautious in travel. From 8 a. m. and until midnight, slow but steady progress may be made in matters pertaining to land, mines, and artistic endeavors.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Slowness, nervousness and dissatisfaction occur before 4:30 p. m. New beginnings will encounter stubborn resistance. It will, therefore, be propitious to attend to only minor duties before this time.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—The better part of the day is previous to 7:15 a. m. for your plans are frustrated easily, and you are able to use tact and diplomacy.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Before 11:25 a. m. does not favor clear understanding with others. Speculations and speculative ideas may sound alluring, but they are without profit. In your personal life, you feel anxious and suspicious.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—Previous to 10:15 a. m. you will not only be easily annoyed, but will find that others disturb you, and therefore a critical attitude surrounds affairs. New beginnings at this time will encounter disruptive tendencies.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—Today is more favorable for minor operations, for conserving and completing your present work, or for dealing with a around electrical and mechanical work, and avoid a spirit of criticism.

Snooks Gets Gay

In New Year Skit

Beating her New Year taton on an old pot, Fanny Brice's imitable Baby Snooks' character will thwart "Daddy" Hanley Stafford's attempt to break away from the big night's celebration. With their rousing comedy spree, the Coffee Time program will ring in the new year tonight at 8 o'clock over WSB.

Then Frank Morgan, sporting a New Year's Day braggadocio, will relate his adventures—stalking the huge pink elephants in the morning—providing just another headache to enee John Conte and a laughing jug to the rest of the cast.

Case of Champagne

Is Dr. Christian Play

The rollicking ride of "A Case of Champagne" is dramatized on Jean Herschell's "Dr. Christian" program, tonight at 8:30 o'clock over WGST.

Lurene Tuttle, as the doctor's secretary, Judy Price, connives with her resourceful boss in disposing of a case of sparkling wine. A temperance worker discovers the wine in her cellar—last of a stock put there by her late husband. She begs Dr. Christian to help her remove the evidence, and he in turn enlists the aid of Hop Sing, Chinese laundryman, to hide it in his laundry basket. The champagne goes bouncing all over town before its bubbles are finally released in welcome surroundings.

Mary Martin Joins

Bing Crosby, Gang

Bingston Crosby and the regulars of the ole Music Hall will be decked out in their best bibs and tuckers to welcome songstress Mary (My Heart Belongs to Daddy) Martin to membership in their ranks tonight at 9 o'clock over WSB.

Miss Martin replaces Connie Boswell, who left the show following last week's airing to make a series of personal appearances in the east. The guest panel will be composed of Wingy Manone, the torrid trumpet tooter; Danish Comedian Victor Borge, with his uniquely stylized routines; and Soprano Dusolina Giannini, of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Georgia-TCU Game Booked Over WGST

WSB Carries Duke Game; Fordham-Missouri on WAGA.

Georgia's Bulldogs, with the great Frank Sinkwich in their lineup, versus Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, with triple-threat Kyle Gillespie in their backfield! Ted Husing, CBS's ace sports reporter, at the microphone, assisted by Jimmy Dolan!

That's the all-star lineup for the Orange Bowl football game to be played in Orange Bowl Stadium, Miami, Fla., on New Year's Day. Husing's play-by-play description of the classic is to be broadcast over the nation-wide CBS network and over WGST at 2 o'clock today. The Rose Bowl game, which was transferred from California to Durham, N. C., because of defense measures, will be heard over WSB beginning at 1:45 o'clock.

Fordham will be pitted against Missouri in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans and the play-by-play description will be handled locally by WAGA beginning at 2 o'clock.

The Alabama-Texas A. & M. game will not be heard locally, but will be broadcast over the Mutual network and may be picked up on near-by Mutual stations.

War Experts To Give Views On Sea Battle

Town Meeting Features Discussion on Outlook in Atlantic.

Having surveyed the situation in the Pacific at the last session, "America's Town Meeting of the Air" will turn to "The Outlook in the Atlantic" tonight. Effective tonight the top-ranking forum will regularly take the air at 9 o'clock instead of 9:15.

Speakers will be Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward, U. S. N., retired, former commandant of the Third Naval District; Jay Allen, well-known newspaper correspondent recently returned from Nazi-occupied France, and Colonel W. Steward-Roddie, for many years an officer in the intelligence department of the British war office. A fourth speaker will be announced later.

Navy Show Bows

On WGST Today

The William Wrigley Jr. Company has presented the United States Navy with 30 minutes of radio time each Thursday over the coast-to-coast Columbia Broadcasting System network and WGST, beginning tonight from 10:15 to 10:45 o'clock.

During the weekly half hour, the Navy is to offer an informational program concerning the service. Featured each week is a dramatized event in the history of Uncle Sam's sea heroes.

The program also is to explain the many educational and trades training advantages for the blue-jackets, and in general the spirit of the production is to impress listeners with the importance of the Navy to Americans of present and bygone years.

Eddie Dowling, director and master of ceremonies of "We, the People," has appointed Dave Levy, his radio producer, as first assistant in charge of radio for the USO Camp Shows, Inc. Dowling is president of Camp Shows.

10th Anniversary of Dr.

Howard's Pastorate

Celebrated.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 31.—A service marking the 10th anniversary of the beginning of the ministry of Dr. Willis E. Howard, pastor of the First Baptist church here, was conducted at that church at the morning service last Sunday, when a new automobile was presented him and his wife by the church membership.

In the church programs distributed as usual for the day, officers of the church had included a section of appreciation of the pastor and his wife, with tributes expressed from the leaders in all church departments of the organization, and from heads of all civic and educational groups throughout the town.
Words of appreciation and presentation of the car were made by H. W. Caldwell and Dr. W. H. Clark, on behalf of the board of deacons. In a summary of the accomplishments of Dr. Howard as the leader of his church through the past 10 years, the speakers listed the baptism of 1,782 members; the preaching of 1,721 sermons; the launching of a program of expansion extending over a five-year period in which the building, equipping and furnishing of one of the most complete Sunday school plants in the Southern Baptist convention has been planned and executed, and for which, only three weeks ago, a special "paid-up" service was held, marking the payment in full of approximately $300,000 for the improvements.

H. T. Quillian, president of LaGrange College, voiced the feelings of LaGrange citizens when he said, "With deep appreciation of Dr. Howard's ministry in the past decade, we look forward with eager expectancy to the years of service which lie ahead."
